Khrush Gets West Notes For Summit Conference

'Living Buddha' Of Tibet Said To Be in Flight

DARJEELING, India (AP) — A reliable source here on the Indian border reported today that the Chinese Communists have announced that the Dalai Lama fled from Lhasa during the revolt in the Tibetan capital.

The whereabouts of Tibet's 23-year-old religious and political leader, revered by his people as "the living Buddha," were unknown in Kalimpong. There were rumors he was heading south toward the Indian protectorate of Sikkim, between Darjeeling and Tibet, or southeast toward the Indian province of Assam.

Refugee Tibetans were speculating that their Buddhist godking would remain with resistance forces in southern Tibet or might cross into India. Reports have persisted that the revolt which broke out in Lhasa last Friday has spread to the countryside. The Chinese have been reported in control once again of Lhasa.

The report in Darjeeling was that advisers to the Dalai Lama, before the fighting started in Lhasa, added their names to a declaration declaring Tibet independent of Chinese control and charging the Communists with breaking promises in the 1951 treaty to respect Tibet's religion and way of life.

The report said the declaration was presented by a delegatoin from the public and was handed on to the Chinese.

The Chinese for more than two centuries have maintained that Tibet is part of China. But in an attempt to spur the revolt against the Communist, Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek from Taipei offered the Tibetans the right to choose independence if his forces regain control of the mainland.

Capital Punishment Issue May Be Decided by Voters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov Michael V. DiSalle still has a chance to put over his almost one-man campaign to abolish capital punishment. It isn't the type of chance he wanted, but it is still a chance.

The Democratic governor got a stiff jab Wednesday from the Democratic-dominated House Judiciary Committee when it refused to recommend passage of bills to abolish or modify Oh o's capital punishment system. Committee action, for all practical purposes, killed the bills.

But Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning), chairman of the Senate's State Government Committee, told newsmen he will start hearings next week on a proposed constitutional amendment to abolish capital punishment. Should the Legislature adopt the resolution which would place the issue on next November's ballot, the governor would have no voice in the decision.

But he has said in the past he believed the Legislature should settle the matter and not shoulder off the decision on the people.

Asked for comment after the House committee's decision in face of his personal appearance Tuesday in favor of the bill, DiSalle told newsmen the adverse vote was expected. He added:

"The time will come when Ohio will abolish capital punishment, as will every other state."

The margin of defeat was not even close. On a bill to abolish capital punishment except for slayers of policemen and prison guards, the vote was 15-7 against.

On a bill to reverse the present system on first - degree murder cases, the vote was 14-8 against. The bill would have made a life sentence mandatory in a first-degree murder conviction unless the jury recommended electrocution. Present law makes electrocution mandatory unless the jury recommends mercy.

After the capital punishment bills were killed off, the legislators began a four-day Easter recess.

Another top legislative development was House passage, 91-22, of a bill to extend indefinitely school levies outside the 10-mill limitation unless lifted by popular vote. Such levies now must be submitted to a vote at least every five years. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Rep. Gail W. Porterfield (R-Knox) called the bill "a surreptitious method of skirting the 10-mill limitation." That limitation, a part of the Ohio constitution, limits real estate taxes to $10 for each $1,000 of valuation. Taxes above that amount must be approved by the voters.

The Senate reconsidered and passed a bill, previously defeated, to lift the present gasoline tax exemption for trucks used in high way repair and construction.

The Senate also passed and sent to the House a bill to permit cities to pay the clerks of their municipal courts a limit of 85 per cent of the salary received by judges of the court.

The long Easter recess, which apparently was decided upon at the last minute, slowed down anticipated progress on DiSalle's tax program.

Before the recess, the House Taxation Committee recommended passage of a bill to double Ohio's corporation franchise tax from one-tenth to two-tenths per cent—an increase of about 16 million dollars a year. Deferred was action on beer and cigarette tax boosts.

Big 3 List Varied Degrees Of Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle agreed conditionally today to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the summit on the Berlin crisis and other problems.

They differed materially, however, in the emphasis they placed on the conditions.

A U.S. note said this country is prepared for a meeting of heads of state "on the understanding" that a prior meeting of foreign ministers at least narrows differences and prepares "constructive proposals."

The British note to the Kremlin took a considerably more positive approach. It said the British would be glad to go to the summit "as soon as developments in the foreign ministers meeting warrant." It spoke of a summit meeting this summer, whereas the U.S. note only spoke of such a conference as soon as the foreign ministers' action might "justify" it.

The French language concerning conditions was still stiffer than that of the United States.

President de Gaulle, in his note to Moscow, made his attendance hinge on whether the foreign ministers meeting "permits the envisagement of genuine progress" at the top. And the French spoke only of a summit session "at an appropriate time" instead of mentioning this summer.

All three of the Western notes reserved the right of all participants to bring up whatever subjects they choose.

That is in contrast to the Soviet idea of confining the talks solely to Berlin and a German peace treaty. In a March 2 note, the Kremlin proposed that the foreign ministers meeting, at least, be held exclusively to those subjects.

U.S. officials said that in spite of the differences in wording, they considered the Western notes to say substantially the same thing.

The Western powers proposed that the foreign ministers meeting start in Geneva May 11 "to consider questions relating to Germany, including a peace treaty with Germany and the question of Berlin."

From there on, they went into their divergent approaches to the summit session.

Despite the variations of emphasis, the Western proposals appeared to bring closer the prospect of a conference of President Eisenhower, Macmillan and De Gaulle with Khrushchev.

The American note was released here, and the British and French communications in Paris and London, after their delivery to the Soviet Foreign Office.

In general they all followed the line of a formula worked out by Eisenhower and Macmillan at their Camp David meeting last week.

That plan calls for dealing with the Berlin crisis through diplomatic negotiations aiming toward one or more summit meetings.

"The purpose of the foreign ministers meeting," the U.S. note said, "should be to reach positive agreements over as wide a field as possible, and in any case to narrow the differences between the respective points of view and to prepare constructive proposals for consideration by a conference of heads of government later in the summer.

"On this understanding and as soon as developments in the foreign ministers meeting justify holding a summit conference, the United States government would be ready to participate in such a conference.

Pre-Easter Snow Storm Whips Plains

Springtime in Rockies Is Farce as Blizzard Hits Eastern Slopes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pre-Easter snow storm whipped across the eastern Rockies into the Midwest today after kicking up a rash of violent weather in sections of the plains and Mississippi Valley.

The year's worst snow storm which hammered the eastern slopes of the Rockies left drifts waist-high in parts of Colorado, Wyoming and western Nebraska. Snow depths were more than a foot in many places. Denver snow. It was not spring time in the Rockies.

The early spring storm, abating in the Rockies, didn't lose much of its fury as it swept eastward, powered by strong northerly winds.

Heavy snow warnings were posted for Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota. Lighter amounts were in prospect in northern sections of Wisconsin and Michigan and parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Texas staggered from an outbreak of wild weather. Tornadoes, snow, hail, rain and strong winds lashed the Lone Star state Wednesday. Freezing weather followed the snow in the Panhandle region. The tornadoes caused some property damage and injured one person.

In the western sections of the snow belt, many roads were impassable. One death was attributed to the storm in Colorado. Hundreds of autos were abandoned as motorists found shelter in motels. Bus travel was halted at Denver and Cheyenne, Wyo. Schools closed in many areas of both Colorado and Wyoming.

At Ogallala, Neb., students from rural areas spent the night in the city's school when buses were halted by the huge drifts. Further west, in Kimball County, schools remained closed.

The tornadix winds which hit Texas also struck in nearby Oklahoma. One twister swept the area of Alva, in northern Oklahoma, damaging some homes. No injuries were reported. Heaviest damages from the violent winds in Texas was in Denison, a community of about 1,000 in the north central section. One woman was injured. Tornado-force winds also lashed areas southwest and south of Denison.

Hail, rain and snow pelted Amarillo in north Texas. Two inches of snow covered the ground at Texline and snow continued at Dalhart. Hailstones a half-inch in diameter, nearly an inch of rain and winds up to 70 m.p.h. rocked Bridgeport.

The storm, moving southeast across north central Texas, hit parts of Fort Worth and Dallas with rain, hail and strong winds.

Tornadic winds pounded Parsons, in southeast Kansas. More than an inch of rain fell in Kansas City, Mo., Chanute, Kan., and MacAlester, Okla., in a six-hour period.

Ike's Guess on U.S. Income Believed To Be Too High

WASHINGTON (AP)—New revenue estimates by congressional tax experts cast substantial doubt today over President Eisenhower's hopes for a balanced budget next year.

Staff economists of the Senate House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation predicted the government's income would fall more than a billion dollars short of the President's budget expectations.

Their annual estimates, which have been close to the mark in the past, put federal receipts for the year starting July 1 at only $75,800,000,000. Eisenhower had counted on $77,100,000,000 in revenues in submitting his budget to Congress last January.

If borne out, the revenue shrinkage itself would knock administration budget calculations into the red without taking into consideration the probability of increased spending by Congress. The legislators also have shown no inclination to vote higher gasoline taxes and postal rates which Eisenhower asked as part of his proposal for a balanced budget.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said even the staff estimate was optimistic.

"The need for the President to veto every bill involving excessive expenditures is crystal clear," Byrd said.

Administration experts said they're sticking with the budget estimates, at least for now.

However, one said they were doing this "with no real assurance" that downward revisions in revenue estimates won't have to be made later.

The next set of administration estimates is due in September. However, Treasury aides said the figures doubtless would be revised before then.

Ohio Financial Situation Said Nearing Crisis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It's the opinion of Ohio's finance director that the state may "very soon" be caught in a financial quandry like Michigan's.

Director James Maloon testified Wednesday before the Ohio Senate Finance Committee on a bill which would produce an estimated 91 million dollars more a year in sales taxes.

He told the committee of Ohio's need for additional revenues in the next two years and of its financial difficulties.

Sen. William H. Deddens (R-Hamilton) asked Maloon:

"Might we not be caught like Michigan is?"

Maloon replied:

"I think we will be very soon, senator."

Maloon told the committee that Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's recommended one-third of a billion dollar tax increase in the next two years, including added gasoline and diesel fuel taxes, will not make up the 212 million more needed in the general revenue fund in the next biennium. Highway taxes may not be used for general revenue purposes.

If the governor gets all the taxes he asked, there still will be a substantial deficit," Maloon said.

Soldier Tells of His Role In Arrest in Gethsemane

"The trial by candlelight before the high priest Caiaphas disgusted me. Hatred showed in every priestly move. The Galilean, strangely, seemed to pity them for their hate."

Jerusalem, Judea

16th year of the Caesar Tiberius Gaius my father,

Forgive me, my father, my hasty scrawl for I write swiftly as the first light of day grows bright upon the city's walls. This night has been an active one indeed, although I cannot say it has been the type of action I, a soldier of Rome, most admire.

They have arrested the troublesome Galilean. It took a squad of soldiers and a mob of priestly followers, armed with swords and clubs and led by a betrayer, to arrest this unarmed man by the dark of the moon.

The priests of the temple have condemned him to death but I have doubts the sentence will be carried out. The evidence against him is meager and the condemnation must yet be confirmed by the Procurator, who, for all his faults, is a just man.

The business of this night has thrown me into close contact with the man from Galilee, for it was Titus and I who led the arresting soldiers. This contact, I confess, my father, has had an effect upon me that is most unsoldierly.

When he looks at me, I feel a strange desire to throw down my sword and cast off my helmet and breastplate and spring weaponless to his defense.

The spell that surrounds the Galilean seems also to have touched Titus, that solid rock of reality, for tonight he thought he saw the Galilean perform one of those acts called miracles! It may have been imagination, but it has shaken Titus badly.

It happened as we arrested the Galilean by the flickering light of the mob's torches in the garden called Gethsemane. I did not see the miraculous act but I heard the commotion among those who surrounded the holy man. I rushed over sword in hand.

Titus stood as one stunned. He told me that the man Peter, defending his master, had drawn a sword and sliced an ear from the head of one of the high priest's servants. And the Galilean rebuked Peter— and replaced the ear!

"It was an illusion," Titus mumbled wildly, more to himself than

Rat Tests Give Clues on 'Ticker'

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati medical research team reports it has produced "possibly for the first time" true heart attacks in rats.

The experiments may shed new light on two major causes of foreshortened life: Heart disease and hardening of the arteries.

A paper published Wednesday in the current issue of "Proceeds of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine," New York, and authored by Drs. Benjamin F. Miller and Bernard C. Wexler of Cincinnati, reported that cholestrol, considered high among suspected causes of heart disease, must share more attention with "stress."

Miller, director of the May Institute, a part of Jewish Hospital here, was lecturer in medicine at the Harvard Medical School from 1951 to 1954. He is among pioneers in studies involving transplantation of human kidneys, and currently is associate professor of experimental medicine at the university of Cincinnati. Wexler is a research associate at the May Institute.

Experiments somewhat similar to those underway involving rats have been conducted with dogs, Miller said. However, he observed, dietary requirements and the entire nutritional picture of rodents more nearly approach those of human species, "and for that reason, among others, we have been able to produce lesions more like those encountered in man."

Cholestrol is a fatty substance under suspicion because it is found in high concentrations in the swollen linings of diseased arteries, the two scientists wrote, hence "low fat" diets and concern about "cholestrol level" in the blood.

Stress, on the other hand, covers a wide range of pressures, both physical and emotional. It is not necessarily undesirable. What is important, the report continued, is the response of the whole human frame to stress situations. Some people withstand great pressures without damage, the report observed, probably because their psyches and adrenal glands somehow have achieved correct balance.

To intensify the severity of stress, the researchers used rats repeatedly involved in breeding because during pregnancy and breeding, the body is subjected to stress and produces extra hormones. From each rat, a kidney was removed, to produce additional stress. Finally, extra amounts of ACTH, the "stress hormone" were injected.

The control rats were fed normal diets, with neither fat nor salt added. The cholestrol levels remained normal. However, treated with ACTH, the animals developed severe evidences of arterial hardening, duplicating in many respects the condition encountered these rats aged rapidly and prematurely. In earliest stages of the disease, microscopic examination failed to show any unusual amount of fats in the affected tissues.

In reporting a conclusion that fats in the diet do not necessarily bring on hardening of the arteries, Miller and Wexler said that conceivably abnormal response to stress could do the damage.

"We think" they wrote, "that this may be the first demonstration of a true heart attack in rats," meaning, they added, that the hardening which produced the attack was not too far from what might happen to people.

"We are not ready to throw out cholestrol as a cause," reported the doctors, who expressed belief that there are several possibilities in combination—heredity among them.

Suppose, they suggested, there were some chemical change, as yet undiscovered, triggered within the body by any one of these possible conditions? That would be at the root of the problem, and, said Miller, "That is what we are looking for."

The next set of administration estimates is due in September. However, Treasury aides said the figures doubtless would be revised before then.

Ohio Financial Situation Said Nearing Crisis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It's the opinion of Ohio's finance director that the state may "very soon" be caught in a financial quandry like Michigan's.

Director James Maloon testified Wednesday before the Ohio Senate Finance Committee on a bill which would produce an estimated 91 million dollars more a year in sales taxes.

He told the committee of Ohio's need for additional revenues in the next two years and of its financial difficulties.

Sen. William H. Deddens (R-Hamilton) asked Maloon:

"Might we not be caught like Michigan is?"

Maloon replied:

"I think we will be very soon, senator."

Maloon told the committee that Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's recommended one-third of a billion dollar tax increase in the next two years, including added gasoline and diesel fuel taxes, will not make up the 212 million more needed in the general revenue fund in the next biennium. Highway taxes may not be used for general revenue purposes.

If the governor gets all the taxes he asked, there still will be a substantial deficit," Maloon said.

Circleville To Observe Good Friday

The Pickaway County courthouse and its offices, all Circleville retail businesses and stores, the State Liquor Store and the Public Library will close tomorrow afternoon in observance of Good Friday.

The State Liquor Store will be closed all day Friday. Most retail businesses and stores will close at 1 p. m. and reopen at 3 p. m.

The Public Library will close at 6 p. m. today and reopen tomorrow until noon when it will close for the rest of the day. The courthouse and its departments will close at 1 p. m. Friday and reopen Saturday morning.

Most industries will maintain operation but give their employes an opportunity to attend Good Friday services during working hours if necessary.

Indications are that all Municipal offices will close Friday at 1 p. m. and reopen Saturday.

Epistles from a Roman --

Soldier Tells of His Role In Arrest in Gethsemane

"The trial by candlelight before the high priest Caiaphas disgusted me. Hatred showed in every priestly move. The Galilean, strangely, seemed to pity them for their hate."

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of Easter articles, each in the form of a letter written by a Roman Army officer in Jerusalem describing events to his father back in Rome.

AP Religion Writer

Jerusalem, Judea

16th year of the Caesar Tiberius Gaius my father,

Forgive me, my father, my hasty scrawl for I write swiftly as the first light of day grows bright upon the city's walls. This night has been an active one indeed, although I cannot say it has been the type of action I, a soldier of Rome, most admire.

They have arrested the troublesome Galilean. It took a squad of soldiers and a mob of priestly followers, armed with swords and clubs and led by a betrayer, to arrest this unarmed man by the dark of the moon.

The priests of the temple have condemned him to death but I have doubts the sentence will be carried out. The evidence against him is meager and the condemnation must yet be confirmed by the Procurator, who, for all his faults, is a just man.

The business of this night has thrown me into close contact with the man from Galilee, for it was Titus and I who led the arresting soldiers. This contact, I confess, my father, has had an effect upon me that is most unsoldierly.

When he looks at me, I feel a strange desire to throw down my sword and cast off my helmet and breastplate and spring weaponless to his defense.

The spell that surrounds the Galilean seems also to have touched Titus, that solid rock of reality, for tonight he thought he saw the Galilean perform one of those acts called miracles! It may have been imagination, but it has shaken Titus badly.

It happened as we arrested the Galilean by the flickering light of the mob's torches in the garden called Gethsemane. I did not see the miraculous act but I heard the commotion among those who surrounded the holy man. I rushed over sword in hand.

Titus stood as one stunned. He told me that the man Peter, defending his master, had drawn a sword and sliced an ear from the head of one of the high priest's servants. And the Galilean rebuked Peter— and replaced the ear!

"It was an illusion," Titus mumbled wildly, more to himself than

Rat Tests Give Clues on 'Ticker'

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati medical research team reports it has produced "possibly for the first time" true heart attacks in rats.

The experiments may shed new light on two major causes of foreshortened life: Heart disease and hardening of the arteries.

A paper published Wednesday in the current issue of "Proceeds of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine," New York, and authored by Drs. Benjamin F. Miller and Bernard C. Wexler of Cincinnati, reported that cholestrol, considered high among suspected causes of heart disease, must share more attention with "stress."

Miller, director of the May Institute, a part of Jewish Hospital here, was lecturer in medicine at the Harvard Medical School from 1951 to 1954. He is among pioneers in studies involving transplantation of human kidneys, and currently is associate professor of experimental medicine at the university of Cincinnati. Wexler is a research associate at the May Institute.

Experiments somewhat similar to those underway involving rats have been conducted with dogs, Miller said. However, he observed, dietary requirements and the entire nutritional picture of rodents more nearly approach those of human species, "and for that reason, among others, we have been able to produce lesions more like those encountered in man."

Cholestrol is a fatty substance under suspicion because it is found in high concentrations in the swollen linings of diseased arteries, the two scientists wrote, hence "low fat" diets and concern about "cholestrol level" in the blood.

Stress, on the other hand, covers a wide range of pressures, both physical and emotional. It is not necessarily undesirable. What is important, the report continued, is the response of the whole human frame to stress situations. Some people withstand great pressures without damage, the report observed, probably because their psyches and adrenal glands somehow have achieved correct balance.

To intensify the severity of stress, the researchers used rats repeatedly involved in breeding because during pregnancy and breeding, the body is subjected to stress and produces extra hormones. From each rat, a kidney was removed, to produce additional stress. Finally, extra amounts of ACTH, the "stress hormone" were injected.

The control rats were fed normal diets, with neither fat nor salt added. The cholestrol levels remained normal. However, treated with ACTH, the animals developed severe evidences of arterial hardening, duplicating in many respects the condition encountered these rats aged rapidly and prematurely. In earliest stages of the disease, microscopic examination failed to show any unusual amount of fats in the affected tissues.

In reporting a conclusion that fats in the diet do not necessarily bring on hardening of the arteries, Miller and Wexler said that conceivably abnormal response to stress could do the damage.

"We think" they wrote, "that this may be the first demonstration of a true heart attack in rats," meaning, they added, that the hardening which produced the attack was not too far from what might happen to people.

"We are not ready to throw out cholestrol as a cause," reported the doctors, who expressed belief that there are several possibilities in combination—heredity among them.

Suppose, they suggested, there were some chemical change, as yet undiscovered, triggered within the body by any one of these possible conditions? That would be at the root of the problem, and, said Miller, "That is what we are looking for."

Grass Fires Still Plague Area Firemen

A combination of dry air and dry grass continued to bring problems to firemen in the county today.

Two more grass fires were recorded yesterday afternoon in the county and one resulted this morning in the city. As of 1 p. m. yesterday, there had been eight grass fires in the previous 20½ hours.

Reason for the sudden rush of fires is the unusually dry air and warm weather which has left weeds and grass in excellent burning condition. Discarded cigarettes and unattentive trash burning seem to be main causes.

At 1:15 p. m. yesterday Ashville-Harrison Firemen were called to the Nora Brown farm near Ringgold where trash ignited a field. A few minutes later Ashville and Circleville firefighters were summoned to the James Rutter farm in Washington Twp. to extinguish another field fire.

At 7:10 a. m. today Circleville Firemen rushed to the home of Lena Fry, 158 W. Union St. to battle a roof fire. Firemen said the blaze apparently was caused by a burning bush near the house.

Chief Talmer Wise and his crew said the fire was underneath the roof, causing several boards to burn. They said part of the tin roof was torn away in order to extinguish the flames. There was no estimate of damage.

SCO Superintendents Make Resolution on Standards

Superintendents of schools in the South Central Ohio League met last night in Washington C. H. to further discuss three recommended educational standards.

The proposals were recommended earlier by SCO superintendents and all but two of the school boards concerned adopted the measures. Hillsboro and Wilmington boards did not take action on the proposals.

Two of the proposals were attacked last week by SCO coaches who maintained that the measures would create athletic problems within the league.

In last night's meeting, the superintendents voiced the opinion that the coaches objections were not in order in that the matters must be adopted or recinded by boards of educations of the respective schools.

ACCORDING to the superintendents, none of the league boards seem to be in favor of recinding the measures. Proper action voicing objection to the proposals could be taken by principals of the respective schools in a joint session.

The proposed standards are:

1. No student to be excused for travel to or participate in an athletic event during regular school hours;

2. The Board of Education to prohibit the scheduling of interscholastic events on a night preceding a regular school day, this doesn't apply to state events, such as basketball tournaments;

3. PUPIL PARTICIPATION in activities representing Circleville High School before the public will be required to be passing in four regularly scheduled units of credit.

Saturday Service Is Planned by St. Joseph's

Easter Eve Vigil Mass services will be conducted at 10:30 p. m. Saturday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

This Holy Night is the most solemn memorial, in the whole year, of the central mystery of our redemption; Christ's saving death and glorious resurrection. With gratitude and joy we should take part in it to the best of our ability.

The Vigil has three main parts: The Light Service; second, Baptismal Service, and third, The Eucharist Service.

The Light Service: the blessing of the fire. (God chose fire as a sign of His presence; for example in the pillar of fire through the desert). The kindling of the fire from a stone flint is a vivid likeness of Christ's new presence among men. Also as the spark leaps from the flint, so He arose from the rocked tomb.

The Baptismal Service: this service begins with the scripture reading, then the blessing of the baptismal water using the new Chrism that has brought from the Cathedral Church where it was blessed by the Bishop on Holy Thursday, and finally the renewing of the baptismal promises.

The closing Service is the Offering of the first Easter Mass. This Mass is the most significant of the whole year, for it is the solemn anniversary celebration of Christ's "Pasch" i.e. His passage from death to resurrection.

Our response to this tremendous mystery in which we are participating is a resounding, oft-repeated Alleluia "Praise the Lord!" May it echo in our hearts — deeds — throughout the year.

That three-point proposal was the heart of the Eisenhower-Macmillan formula which in substance was approved later by De Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

De Gaulle's note indicated even stronger reservations. He said he would be willing to go to the summit only if a foreign ministers meeting made genuine progress. The U.S. note, on the other hand, spoke only of "constructive proposals" from the foreign ministers.

The U.S. communication mentioned this summer as the time for a summit meeting. De Gaulle spoke only of an appropriate time.

On two other issues the Western powers told the Soviet Union:

1. Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, like some other unspecified countries, might be brought into the Big Four negotiations "on a certain stage" but the meeting should be initially held by the four powers responsible for Germany.

2. German advisers—from both West and Communist East Germany—should be invited to the May 11 meeting and should be consulted. The United States treated this as agreed since an earlier Western proposal to this effect had been favorably received by Moscow.

In a note March 2, the Soviet government had agreed to a foreign ministers session though making clear its preference for a summit meeting. The Soviets at that time said the foreign ministers should consider exactly two subjects: the future of Berlin and a German peace treaty.

Grass Fires Still Plague Area Firemen

A combination of dry air and dry grass continued to bring problems to firemen in the county today.

Two more grass fires were recorded yesterday afternoon in the county and one resulted this morning in the city. As of 1 p. m. yesterday, there had been eight grass fires in the previous 20½ hours.

Reason for the sudden rush of fires is the unusually dry air and warm weather which has left weeds and grass in excellent burning condition. Discarded cigarettes and unattentive trash burning seem to be main causes.

At 1:15 p. m. yesterday Ashville-Harrison Firemen were called to the Nora Brown farm near Ringgold where trash ignited a field. A few minutes later Ashville and Circleville firefighters were summoned to the James Rutter farm in Washington Twp. to extinguish another field fire.

At 7:10 a. m. today Circleville Firemen rushed to the home of Lena Fry, 158 W. Union St. to battle a roof fire. Firemen said the blaze apparently was caused by a burning bush near the house.

Chief Talmer Wise and his crew said the fire was underneath the roof, causing several boards to burn. They said part of the tin roof was torn away in order to extinguish the flames. There was no estimate of damage.

Injuries Treated At Hospital Here

Three persons were treated for injuries yesterday at Berger Hospital. All were treated and released.

James Johnson, 24, of 153 Fairview Ave., was struck on the chin while loading a truck at 10:15 a. m.

Ray Fowler, 50, Columbus, suffered injuries to the right shoulder and neck while working at the local General Electric plant.

Robert Walls, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Walls, Lowery Lane, was treated for abrasions of the nose and upper lip when he fell from a moving truck at 3:30 p. m.

The real Eskimo parka is generally made of seal or caribou skin, the hood's opening fringed with wolverine hair.

SCO Superintendents Make Resolution on Standards

Superintendents of schools in the South Central Ohio League met last night in Washington C. H. to further discuss three recommended educational standards.

The proposals were recommended earlier by SCO superintendents and all but two of the school boards concerned adopted the measures. Hillsboro and Wilmington boards did not take action on the proposals.

Two of the proposals were attacked last week by SCO coaches who maintained that the measures would create athletic problems within the league.

In last night's meeting, the superintendents voiced the opinion that the coaches objections were not in order in that the matters must be adopted or recinded by boards of educations of the respective schools.

ACCORDING to the superintendents, none of the league boards seem to be in favor of recinding the measures. Proper action voicing objection to the proposals could be taken by principals of the respective schools in a joint session.

The proposed standards are:

1. No student to be excused for travel to or participate in an athletic event during regular school hours;

2. The Board of Education to prohibit the scheduling of interscholastic events on a night preceding a regular school day, this doesn't apply to state events, such as basketball tournaments;

3. PUPIL PARTICIPATION in activities represeating Circleville High School before the public will be required to be passing in four regularly scheduled units of credit.

St. Philip's Sets Easter Program

Children of the Church School at St. Philip's Church will attend an Easter preparation service at 3:30 p. m. Saturday, at the Church. The Rev. William G. Huber will speak to the children and also lead the Service in which the children will present their Lenten Mite Boxes.

Following the service there will be an Easter Egg hunt and refreshments for the children of the Church School. These activities will be under the direction of the teachers and Robert Hutzelman, superintendent.

Each child attending is asked to bring one dyed Easter egg for the hunt.

Saturday Service Is Planned by St. Joseph's

Easter Eve Vigil Mass services will be conducted at 10:30 p. m. Saturday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

This Holy Night is the most solemn memorial, in the whole year, of the central mystery of our redemption; Christ's saving death and glorious resurrection. With gratitude and joy we should take part in it to the best of our ability.

The Vigil has three main parts: The Light Service; second, Baptismal Service, and third, The Eucharist Service.

The Light Service: the blessing of the fire. (God chose fire as a sign of His presence; for example in the pillar of fire through the desert). The kindling of the fire from a stone flint is a vivid likeness of Christ's new presence among men. Also as the spark leaps from the flint, so He arose from the rocked tomb.

The Baptismal Service: this service begins with the scripture reading, then the blessing of the baptismal water using the new Chrism that has brought from the Cathedral Church where it was blessed by the Bishop on Holy Thursday, and finally the renewing of the baptismal promises.

The closing Service is the Offering of the first Easter Mass. This Mass is the most significant of the whole year, for it is the solemn anniversary celebration of Christ's "[illegible]h" i.e. His passage from death to resurrection.

Our response to this tremendous mystery in which we are participating is a resounding, oft-repeated Alleluia "Praise the Lord!" May it echo in our hearts — deeds — throughout the year.

That three-point proposal was the heart of the Eisenhower-Macmillan formula which in substance was approved later by De Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

De Gaulle's note indicated even stronger reservations. He said he would be willing to go to the summit only if a foreign ministers meeting made genuine progress. The U.S. note, on the other hand, spoke only of "constructive proposals" from the foreign ministers.

The U.S. communication mentioned this summer as the time for a summit meeting. De Gaulle spoke only of an appropriate time.

On two other issues the Western powers told the Soviet Union:

1. Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, like some other unspecified countries, might be brought into the Big Four negotiations "on a certain stage" but the meeting should be initially held by the four powers responsible for Germany.

2. German advisers—from both West and Communist East Germany—should be invited to the May 11 meeting and should be consulted. The United States treated this as agreed since an earlier Western proposal to this effect had been favorably received by Moscow.

In a note March 2, the Soviet government had agreed to a foreign ministers session though making clear its preference for a summit meeting. The Soviets at that time said the foreign ministers should consider exactly two subjects: the future of Berlin and a German peace treaty.

Laurelville Man Sentenced

Eugene F. Karr, Route 1, Laurelville, this morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court plead guilty to driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

Karr was sentenced to five days in the County Jail and fined $125 and costs. His driver's license had already been suspended for one year by Circleville Municipal Court.

Karr was arrested Jan. 11, 1959 by the County Sheriffs Department. He was apprehended while driving on Moccasin Road in Saltcreek Twp.

No Desire To Be Lady MacBeth

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't want to play Lady MacBeth or be a big fat star," said Audrey Meadows. "I just want to keep working.

"I'm a kind of slap-happy character. I've loved every show I've been on."

And titian-haired Audrey, the China-born daughter of an Episcopal missionary — she used to teach Sunday School — has been a standout in practically every branch of the entertainment field.

She started as a concert singer at 16. She sang and danced in Broadway musicals. She became a standout in practically every branch of the entertainment field.

She started as a concert singer at 16. She sang and danced in Broadway musicals. She became known as television's brightest, breeziest young comedienne.

After a two-year layoff she resumed her career as a quiz show performer and guest star. This Friday night she tries a new role, pinch-hitting for Edward R. Murrow.

"I'm glad they had a sinking spell and hired me for this job," she said, cheerfully. "I've always wanted to be a newspaper gal."

"I've been very fortunate in the shows I've been on and the people I've worked with," said Audrey, who has a nice trait of always speaking well of the other fellow.

She brings a great gusto to living and enjoys a varied life. Because the only musical instrument she can play is the piano—"with one finger"—she plans to take lessons on the guitar.

"I suffer from the feeling there isn't time to do everything I want to," she said. "But I guess if there were time, that would be complete boredom, wouldn't it? It would be frightening."

Her favorite color is bright red. She says it makes her feel good. She likes to read, water ski, cook and watch baseball and football.

The only thing that bores her is "a closed mind." The thing that attracts her most is "a curious mind."

"So many people today are negative," she said. "I believe in kindness and a faith in something or someone beyond ourselves. If we all practiced kindness on a larger scale, we'd have fewer misunderstandings on all levels.

"I don't believe much in anger or fear.

"The only thing that really makes me angry is the sight of injustice. The only thing that scares me is the elements—hurricanes, lightning, thunder.

"I don't have many social fears. If there is a job I know I can't do, I don't take it."

Asked what her epitaph would be if she could write it herself, Audrey grinned and said:

"She tried—poor soul!"

How Can We Ignore Arabs?

By George Sokolsky

The first paragraph of a Foreign Policy Assn. press release reads:

"The Government of the United States should recognize Arab Nationalism, according to results of an opinion poll of over 5,000 adults and students announced today by the Foreign Policy Assn."

In the first place, what is Arab Nationalism? Nationalism is a concept of loyalty, pride, faith in a nation. But there is no Arab nation. There are a number of countries all or most of the inhabitants of which are of Arabic origin or of mixed origin and in these countries Arabic is the language and Islam the prevailing religion.

Precisely then how does the United States go about recognizing Arab Nationalism? What is the procedure? For instance, we do recognize Egypt, or rather the United Arab Republic, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Jordan, and all the other Arab countries, omitting none. Exactly what procedure would the United States use to recognize these countries more than we already have? It is therefore very puzzling, from its own language, what the F.P.A. means.

The press release of the Foreign Policy Assn. says that this proposition was favorably voted 87 per cent to 7 per cent by the approximately 5,000 persons polled:

". . .'The U. S has a moral and ethical responsibility to help people of the region (Middle East) realize their aspirations for better health, working and living conditions'. . ."

No explanation is given as to why the United States has "a moral and ethical responsibility" to help the Arabs or any other people.

When we do help anyone, it is out of the goodness of our hearts. It is charity. Instead of giving this charity individually, we give it collectively. It comes out of taxes, but we owe nothing to any country and we are under no obligation to help any country.

If it is policy to provide assistance, then it is done because it is policy and there is a quid pro quo. If it is charity, there need be no quid pro quo. But as an obligation, a responsibility, a debt—there is evidence of none.

Why are we under a moral and ethical responsibility to pour our wealth into land and sea until we shall be as poor as Uzbekistan?

Then the F.P.A. has this to say:

". . .'U. S. should recognize that Arab Nationalism is a legitimate force in the area, and we should try to accommodate our policies to this force.' "

This seems to be a stupid sentence. How can we refuse to recognize what exists? Arab Nationalism has taken the form of a rejuvenation of Arab culture in the numerous Arab countries. It is a mass manifestation. That is a fact.

To deny a visible fact, whether one likes it or not, is to be senseless. Also it is a fact that Nasser has been able to stimulate, to a startling degree, a sense of Arab unity even among Arab governments that are antagonistic to Nasser and to each other.

But precisely how does the United States go about recognizing what cannot be denied and why does one assume that the United States has acted senselessly and refused to recognize what is so obvious?

Perhaps the next line answers me:

". . .'U. S. should not be so deeply involved as it is in Arab politics and rivalries of the Middle East'. . ."

First, whoever prepared these polisters' questions wanted the United States to recognize Arab Nationalism but now he wants the United States to mind its own business in the Middle East, especially as regards Arab politics and rivalries.

But then we have huge economic interests and political responsibilities in the Middle East. What do we do about them? Shall we watch all our interests in Iraq, for instance, go to Soviet Russia? It looks as though that is where they will go if either Nasser or Turkey does not save them for us.

The questions are amusing because they are so like Foreign Policy Assn. attitudes toward Nationalist China before the Communists captured that country. Then the tendency was to equate all Chinese factions as equal and therefore why not support Yenan, that is Communist China, as well as Chiang Kai-shek!

And look what happened to the United States in pursuit of such an idea.

February Living Cost Shows Dip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower food prices pushed the nation's living costs down one-tenth of one per cent in February.

The Labor Department Statistics Bureau said its index declined to 123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 base. This is the highest February index point on record, however, 1 per cent above last year.

For January the index stood at 123.8, a fraction under the record of 123.9 set last July and equaled in November.

All consumer price items, except food, averaged higher in February. Food prices dropped seven-tenths of a per cent, resuming a decline interrupted in January after five consecutive months.

Ewan Clague, Labor Department statistics commissioner, said the prospect for the next few months is that living costs will continue in a narrow range. He said foods tend to go up in the late spring and summer, but this expected rise may be moderate this year and counterbalanced to some extent by expected declines in durable goods and clothing.

Work Slow for Best Results

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

You would be surprised at the work you can do if you just take it easy. I'm speaking primarily about physicial labor, but I suppose the same holds true for office work, too.

Many persons believe that if they double their speed on a job it will be easier to do. This just isn't true. Doubling their speed means that they will use two or even three times more energy per minute.

Actually, you will find that by working at a slower pace you probably will be able to do jobs that ordinarily might be too hard on you.

Your body, you see, needs oxygen to turn the food you have eaten into energy. Oxygen is carried in the blood which is pumped through your body by your heart.

Working fast means that you burn oxygen at a faster rate. Thus, your heart must pump faster to get fresh supplies of oxygen-carrying blood to the tissues of your body.

By working more slowly, your heart can work at its normal pace. Thus a speed-up for you also means a speed-up for your heart.

It is easy to tell when you are working too fast. If your work makes you short of breath or causes pain in your chest, slow down. Either you are working too fast or the work is too hard for you.

Rest is very important for persons doing physicial labor. If you can, it might be a good idea to rest for about five minutes every hour. And don't kid yourself into thinking that simply changing the type of work will have the same effect as a brief rest. It won't.

Act your age, whether playing or working. You must realize that you can't work at the same rate forever. As you grow older, your heart and lungs can't work as efficiently as they did in your youth.

While we can't make any hard and fast rules, it is generally true that at the age of 50 your work capacity will be only about 70 per cent of what it was when you were 25. When you are 70, it will be about 50 per cent.

Weight, also, is an important consideration since excess weight means excess work for your heart. As a rule, your ideal weight is what you weighed at the age of 25.

Of course, any job, no matter what it is, can be made easier by proper planning. You'll save valuable time and energy by organizing the job before you tackle it.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers can get double vision looking at the Washington juggling act.

President Eisenhower proposed a budget which he said could be balanced. He offered to show how. But his figures were so thin and iffy only magic could make them out right.

The Democrats, stinging under his charge that they're the big spenders, are trying some magic of their own, plus defiance. They are complaining his budget is much too low for what the country needs.

Eisenhower, calling on the Democratic-run Congress to keep down spending in the 1960 fiscal year starting July 1, offered a budget of 77 billion dollars and estimated revenue at $77,100,000,000. That is cutting it pretty thin.

Eisenhower figured the government would wind up 100 million dollars to the good if Congress agreed to raise 600 million more in revenue by boosting the gasoline tax and postal rates.

It is a pretty good bet Congress won't.

So the idea of a balanced budget already looks academic, particularly in view of what Congress already has done to some of Eisenhower's thoughts on spending.

But what Eisenhower proposed and what the Democrats are doing will give politicans of both parties plenty of ground for argument right up to election day in 1960.

Remember: In this present 1959 fiscal year which ends June 30, the budget is already unbalanced with a deficit of perhaps 13 billion dollars. It's the 1960 budget, starting July 1, that Eisenhower has talked of balancing.

He asked $1,375,000,000 for this country's subscription to the International Monetary Fund. He wanted the expense charged to the 1959 fiscal year, with its already well-known deficit.

The Democratic-run Senate voted the money but charged it to fiscal 1960 expenses. If the House goes along, the Democrats can argue Eisenhower himself threw his own 1960 budget out of balance by asking this money. Chances are in the case the House won't go along.

It would be a rare taxpayer who could figure out the difference between charging an expense to the 1959 budget or the 1960 budget.

Then there's the Development Loan Fund, a government agency which makes long-term loans to underdeveloped countries to get them moving. Last year Congress voted—for fiscal 1959—225 million dollars less than Eisenhower asked for this fund.

But fiscal 1959 doesn't end till June 30 and the fund is already running dry. Eisenhower asked that the 225 million, dropped last year, be voted now and charged to 1959.

The House Appropriations Committee voted to give him not a dime. Later this year, of course, it could vote to give him the 225 million along with what he asked for next year, but charge it all to fiscal 1960, thus throwing his budget further out of balance.

This, too, the Democrats could point to as an example how the economy - preaching Eisenhower was piling up expense. But Tuesday the full House overruled its committee and voted Eisenhower 100 million to be charged to 1959 expenses.

Here's a good example of Congress voting more than Eisenhower asked. He wanted for fiscal 1960 about 53 million dollars for loans and grants to communities in distress because of continuing unemployment.

The Senate voted 389 million. The House has yet to act, but will probably vote more than Eisenhower asked. The argument, of course, is that Eisenhower didn't ask enough.

There'll be plenty more of this until only a taxpayer who is an auditor and has the time could unjuggle the figures.

2 Huge New U.S. Rockets Are Described

NEW YORK (AP)—Saturn and Nova, two enormous rockets reportedly in the U.S. space future, were described today in a leading rocket journal.

Nova, the most powerful of the two, will weigh some 2,250 tons, reported Astronautics, journal of the American Rocket Society.

The five stages of Nova would churn up a total of 7,600,000 pounds of thrust, compared to only 370,000 for the intercontinental ballistic missile, Atlas.

Saturn, called Juno V by the U.S. Army, will use eight current engines clustered in a first stage to turn out 1,200,000 pounds of thrust, the April issue of the journal said.

The second stage of Saturn would use the large engine from the Titan intercontinental ballistic missile. It creates 300,000 pounds of thrust. Smaller engines make up the latter two stages.

Nova's first stage is a cluster of four engines turning out a total of 6 million pounds of thrust. A single engine makes up the second stage of 1½ million pounds of thrust. Smaller engines make up the later stages.

Both of these mammoth space vehicles are reportedly part of a 2-billion-dollar rocket program forecast by T. Keith Glenna, director of the National Space and Aeronautics Administration.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower food prices pushed the nation's living costs down one-tenth of one per cent in February.

The Labor Department Statistics Bureau said its index declined to 123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 base. This is the highest February index point on record, however, 1 per cent above last year.

For January the index stood at 123.8, a fraction under the record of 123.9 set last July and equaled in November.

All consumer price items, except food, averaged higher in February. Food prices dropped seven-tenths of a per cent, resuming a decline interrupted in January after five consecutive months.

Ewan Clague, Labor Department statistics commissioner, said the prospect for the next few months is that living costs will continue in a narrow range. He said foods tend to go up in the late spring and summer, but this expected rise may be moderate this year and counterbalanced to some extent by expected declines in durable goods and clothing.

Work Slow for Best Results

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

You would be surprised at the work you can do if you just take it easy. I'm speaking primarily about physicial labor, but I suppose the same holds true for office work, too.

Many persons believe that if they double their speed on a job it will be easier to do. This just isn't true. Doubling their speed means that they will use two or even three times more energy per minute.

Actually, you will find that by working at a slower pace you probably will be able to do jobs that ordinarily might be too hard on you.

Your body, you see, needs oxygen to turn the food you have eaten into energy. Oxygen is carried in the blood which is pumped through your body by your heart.

Working fast means that you burn oxygen at a faster rate. Thus your heart must pump faster to get fresh supplies of oxygen-carrying blood to the tissues of your body.

By working more slowly, your heart can work at its normal pace. Thus a speed-up for you also means a speed-up for your heart.

It is easy to tell when you are working too fast. If your work makes you short of breath or causes pain in your chest, slow down. Either you are working too fast or the work is too hard for you.

Rest is very important for persons doing physicial labor. If you can, it might be a good idea to rest for about five minutes every hour. And don't kid yourself into thinking that simply changing the type of work will have the same effect as a brief rest. It won't.

Act your age, whether playing or working. You must realize that you can't work at the same rate forever. As you grow older, your heart and lungs can't work as efficiently as they did in your youth.

While we can't make any hard and fast rules, it is generally true that at the age of 50 your work capacity will be only about 70 per cent of what it was when you were 25. When you are 70, it will be about 50 per cent.

Weight, also, is an important consideration since excess weight means excess work for your heart. As a rule, your ideal weight is what you weighed at the age of 25.

Of course, any job, no matter what it is, can be made easier by proper planning. You'll save valuable time and energy by organizing the job before you tackle it.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers can get double vision looking at the Washington juggling act.

President Eisenhower proposed a budget which he said could be balanced. He offered to show how. But his figures were so thin and iffy only magic could make them out right.

The Democrats, stinging under his charge that they're the big spenders, are trying some magic of their own, plus defiance. They are complaining his budget is much too low for what the country needs.

Eisenhower, calling on the Democratic-run Congress to keep down spending in the 1960 fiscal year starting July 1, offered a budget of 77 billion dollars and estimated revenue at $77,100,000,000. That is cutting it pretty thin.

Eisenhower figured the government would wind up 100 million dollars to the good if Congress agreed to raise 600 million more in revenue by boosting the gasoline tax and postal rates.

It is a pretty good bet Congress won't.

So the idea of a balanced budget already looks academic, particularly in view of what Congress already has done to some of Eisenhower's thoughts on spending.

But what Eisenhower proposed and what the Democrats are doing will give politicans of both parties plenty of ground for argument right up to election day in 1960.

Remember: In this present 1959 fiscal year which ends June 30, the budget is already unbalanced with a deficit of perhaps 13 billion dollars. It's the 1960 budget, starting July 1, that Eisenhower has talked of balancing.

He asked $1,375,000,000 for this country's subscription to the International Monetary Fund. He wanted the expense charged to the 1959 fiscal year, with its already well-known deficit.

The Democratic-run Senate voted the money but charged it to fiscal 1960 expenses. If the House goes along, the Democrats can argue Eisenhower himself threw his own 1960 budget out of balance by asking this money. Chances are in the case the House won't go along.

It would be a rare taxpayer who could figure out the difference between charging an expense to the 1959 budget or the 1960 budget.

Then there's the Development Loan Fund, a government agency which makes long-term loans to underdeveloped countries to get them moving. Last year Congress voted—for fiscal 1959—225 million dollars less than Eisenhower asked for this fund.

But fiscal 1959 doesn't end till June 30 and the fund is already running dry. Eisenhower asked that the 225 million, dropped last year, be voted now and charged to 1959.

The House Appropriations Committee voted to give him not a dime. Later this year, of course, it could vote to give him the 225 million along with what he asked for next year, but charge it all to fiscal 1960, thus throwing his budget further out of balance.

This, too, the Democrats could point to as an example how the economy - preaching Eisenhower was piling up expense. But Tuesday the full House overruled its committe and voted Eisenhower 100 million to be charged to 1959 ex nses.

Here's a good example of Congress voting more than Eisenhower asked. He wanted for fiscal 1960 about 53 million dollars for loans and grants to communities in distress because of continuing unemployment.

The Senate voted 389 million. The House has yet to act, but will probably vote more than Eisenhower asked. The argument, of course, is that Eisenhower didn't ask enough.

There'll be plenty more of this until only a taxpayer who is an auditor and has the time could unjuggle the figures.

2 Huge New U.S. Rockets Are Described

NEW YORK (AP)—Saturn and Nova, two enormous rockets reportedly in the U.S. space future, were described today in a leading rocket journal.

Nova, the most powerful of the two, will weigh some 2,250 tons, reported Astronautics, journal of the American Rocket Society.

The five stages of Nova would churn up a total of 7,600,000 pounds of thrust, compared to only 370,000 for the intercontinental ballistic missile, Atlas.

Saturn, called Juno V by the U.S. Army, will use eight current engines clustered in a first stage to turn out 1,200,000 pounds of thrust, the April issue of the journal said.

The second stage of Saturn would use the large engine from the Titan intercontinental ballistic missile. It creates 300,000 pounds of thrust. Smaller engines make up the latter two stages.

Nova's first stage is a cluster of four engines turning out a total of 6 million pounds of thrust. A single engine makes up the second stage of 1½ million pounds of thrust. Smaller engines make up the later stages.

Both of these mammoth space vehicles are reportedly part of a 2-billion-dollar rocket program forecast by T. Keith Glenna, director of the National Space and Aeronautics Administration.

New-Type Satellite Is To Be Fired

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Proposals for a radiation satellite that will climb 25,000 miles and a stepped up Navy-military space campaign are the highlights of the American Rocket Society's flight testing conference that ends today.

The society members—790 missile scientists and engineers—end their three-day session with a classified briefing and tour of the Cape Canaveral launching site.

Dr. Homer J. Stewart, director of planning and evaluation for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told newsmen today that the satellite will be launched soon by a four-stage version of the Thor-Able rocket.

He said the satellite, weighing several hundred pounds, would seek a radical orbit ranging from 25,000 to 150 miles above the earth to gather more complete information on two doughnut-shaped radiation fields.

The chief of Navy missile planning, Rear Adm. John T. Hayward, outlined plans for firing 50-pound communications and navigational satellites, possibly before the end of the year.

The admiral reaffirmed that the intermediate range Polaris missile will be ready for launching from nuclear-powered submarines in an operational status next year.

Output High In Huge Ohio Salt Deposit

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The densest salt mine in the nation, and the first to be opened in Ohio since 1901—is yielding rock salt from huge deposits that extend under Lake Erie and Ohio.

The Morton Salt Co. formally opened its new mine at nearby Fairport Harbor this week.

By fall, the company expects to haul 300 tons of salt an hour up the 2,000-foot deep shaft. The salt is chipped from a 200-million-ton deposit.

The salt strata, formed millions of years ago by evaporation of an inland sea, extends from Sandusky into west Pennsylvania and from Lake Erie south into West Virginia.

Two shafts pierce the earth's crust, one for access by workers and the other to bring the salt out.

The company will employ about 92 workmen at the mine. The miners have excellent working conditions compared to their brethren in the coal fields. The temperature at the salt belt is about 78 degrees fahrenheit and varies little.

The state has awarded Morton Salt a 50-year lease on 6,000 acres of underground salt bed area Ohio will collect a royalty of five cents a ton, or an estimated $50,000 a year, based on an anticipated production of one million tons a year.

Easter Sales Spurt Cheers Most Retailers

Merchants Report 14 Pct. Jump on Average Last Week

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A final pre-Easter sales spurt is cheering most merchants across the land. With the cost of living holding fairly steady and with the total of personal income topping the record set two years ago, customers are in more of a spending mood. Retail sales are well above last year's.

Merchants report that sales spurted by about 14 per cent last week on a national average. In this final week the volume apparently is going even higher.

The early Easter concentrated the shopping spree into the last two weeks. Prior to that many merchants were complaining that poor weather was keeping customers away and that many persons just couldn't be made to think about spring clothes.

A better break in the weather in many regions, and the realization that Easter is about upon us, has turned the trick for the merchants.

They now hope to top last year's mark for the first quarter of the year by perhaps 10 per cent.

The Department of Commerce reports that in the first two months of 1959 retail sales were running 7 per cent above a year ago and early reports indicate a good March for merchants.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reveals one reason for this. Its consumer price index was practically unchanged in January and February.

But the Commerce Department points up an even more potent reason. It says total purchasing power has climbed to a record high of 364 billion dollars at an annual rate.

It notes that on average Americans save about 6 per cent of their income and spend the rest.

The department also has good news about the economy as a whole, as well as the consumer portion of it. The output of goods and services is now at a record high, nicely above the previous peak set in the summer of '957.

The total is currently estimated at an annual rate of 464 billion dollars. This compares with 453 billion dollars in the final three months of 1958. Some economists are predicting this gross national product will reach an annual rate of 475 billion dollars by the end of June, and then after a dip during the summer perhaps climb as high as 480 billion dollars by the end of the year.

By Miss Margaret Thomas

Mrs. Edwin Digges, Miss Florence Ruth Marshington, Miss Grace Dresbach and Miss Margaret Thomas attended the 20th anniversary celebration of Delta Kappa Gamma on Saturday, March 21. Miss Virginia Metier, Circleville, who teaches in Chillicothe, was also present.

It was a joint birthday party shared with the members of the Washington C. H. Chapter. The one o'clock luncheon was served in the new First Presbyterian Church in Chillicothe, by the ladies of the church.

The Chillicothe Women's Chorus under the direction of Anna Louise Higgins furnished the music.

The Charter members of both Chapters were recognized and introduced. Miss Thomas was f this number.

The address was made by Mrs. Marcella Holcomb — her subject 'o'A Calendar, A Nylon Stocking, and an Armful of Flowers". it was a very clever and inspirational message, and was greatly appreciated.

THE BOX Social which the Intermediate MYF held on Thursday evening, was so successful, from the young peoples' point of view, at least, that they wuld like to have another one real soon. It is an old idea, but new to them and they had fun. They also made $47.40.

Mrs. David Crouse, of Lake White, arranged a birthday surprise for her mother, Mrs. Ruby Wood, on Saturday, March 21.

Mrs. Charles Wood took a group of friends to the Lake White Club where they all enjoyed the birthday luncheon which was a complete surprise to the honor guest.

The McArthur Civic and Junior Civic Club members were hostesses. Present from Kingston were: Mrs. Raymond Davis, Mrs. Kenneth Timmons, Mrs. Grover Whitten, Mrs. Carroll Minor, Mrs. Winston Hood, and Mrs. John Thomas.

THERE WILL be a bazaar in connection with the meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at Bethel Methodist Church at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Miss Ora Rittenour near Kingston. Mrs. D. H. Dreisbach is the assistant hostess. World Banks will be collected at the meetings.

Four members of the Isabella Thoburn Circle of Woman's Society of Christian Service drove to Lancaster Thursday evening, instead of having a regular meeting. They visited the Industrial School, and saw the Easter pageant "The Challenge and the Cross" which was presented by the boys there.

Those making the trip were Mrs. Robert Rounsley, Mrs. William Russell, Mrs. John Franceis and Mrs. Don Beeman.

Mrs. Robert Brundige and Miss Lettie Brundige left today for a very exciting vacation. First they will go by plane to London, Ontario, Canada where they will visit with Mrs. Brundige's sister Mrs. Anne Smart.

Mrs. Smart and a friend, Miss Ruth Robinson will join them then and all will take a conducted tour to the Hawaiian Islands. They will go by way of Los Angeles and return by way of San Francisco so that they will have a few days of sightseeing in each city.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Davis and son Jimmy returned last week from their three week's vacation trip to Phoenix, Arizona, Mexico, and California. They report a wonderful time.

The Brownie Club with Mrs. Charles Search and Mrs. Kenneth Timmons as leaders, met Thursday evening after school at the library. The main business was the election of officers with the following results:

President — Jeanne Beavers; Vice President—Margie Buchwalter; Treasurer—Jody Kerns, and Secretary and Reporter — Melissa Search.

These officers will serve for eight meetings at which time there will be another election.

An outdoor Easter egg hunt is planned for the next meeting, if the weather permits.

Your Old Age Income Getting Added Study

Variable Annuity Decision by High Court Causes Concern

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — What are you going to live on when you're old?

Even some of the rock 'n' roll generation may think about that once in a while. And the U.S. Supreme Court's decision on variable annuities brings up today all the many forms of retirement income that are available to Americans.

A rock 'n' roller is likely to dismiss the question of cash in old age by saying the government will take care of it. He means old age pensions, and all the other benefits that federal and state governments hand out these days.

Workers also either have or hope for some form of retirement pension. Many civil servants have similar pension plans. Some unions have funds for aiding their retired members.

Then you come to the list of income which an individual provides for himself entirely on his own. These forms compete with each other for the individual's savings. This is one reason the variable annuity was brought before the U.S. Supreme Court.

The usual type of annuity as sold by insurance companies provides for a fixed return in dollars.

The variable annuity offers payment in dollar amounts that go up and down in line with market value of the corporate stocks into which the insurance company has put the reserve funds involved. The argument is that stock prices will go up when the cost of living rises and that thus the annuity holder will have a fairly stable standard of living.

Many insurance officials challenge this argument. They say the stock market is no reliable barometer of inflation, nor is continuing inflation as inevitable as some contend.

There are forms of insurance besides annuities that have retirement pay features.

Another competitor is the mutual fund. Holders of this form of security also have their returns tied to the investing skill of the fund's management and to some extent to the rise and fall of the market value of such investments.

Dealers in stocks and bonds also tend to look upon the variable annuity as a competitor. Many persons buy stocks and bonds with the aim of assuring an income in old age.

Dealers and exchange officials naturally prefer that individuals buy stocks through them rather than through insurance companies. The hold

SOMETHING IN RESERVE—Three minutes after the phone rang at air operations, Naval Air Station, Grosse Ile, Mich., near Detroit, a pilot and hoist operator took off in a helicopter. Seventeen minutes and 20 miles later, they were over a "victim" stranded on ice. Down went the arm swing on the hoist and up came the "victim." Shortly afterward he was placed in a waiting ambulance at the base. It was a drill for Helicopter Utility Squadron 731, composed of civilian men in the reserve on two-week active training. They also train one weekend a month. The most important duty of a reservist is to be ready for any emergency. (Central Press)

Lee and Lincoln

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — Robert E. Lee and Abraham Lincoln will be closely associated in the future as real comrades in arms. A fleet ballistic missile submarine here will be named the Robert E. Lee and a sister ship under construction at Portsmouth, N. H., will bear the name of the former president.

Your Old Age Income Getting Added Study

Variable Annuity Decision by High Court Causes Concern

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — What are you going to live on when you're old?

Even some of the rock 'n' roll generation may think about that once in a while. And the U.S. Supreme Court's decision on variable annuities brings up today all the many forms of retirement income that are available to Americans.

A rock 'n' roller is likely to dismiss the question of cash in old age by saying the government will take care of it. He means old age pensions, and all the other benefits that federal and state governments hand out these days.

Workers also either have or hope for some form of retirement pension. Many civil servants have similar pension plans. Some unions have funds for aiding their retired members.

Then you come to the list of income which an individual provides for himself entirely on his own. These forms compete with each other for the individual's savings. This is one reason the variable annuity was brought before the U.S. Supreme Court.

The usual type of annuity as sold by insurance companies provides for a fixed return in dollars.

The variable annuity offers payment in dollar amounts that go up and down in line with market value of the corporate stocks into which the insurance company has put the reserve funds involved. The argument is that stock prices will go up when the cost of living rises and that thus the annuity holder will have a fairly stable standard of living.

Many insurance officials challenge this argument. They say the stock market is no reliable barometer of inflation, nor is continuing inflation as inevitable as some contend.

There are forms of insurance besides annuities that have retirement pay features.

Another competitor is the mutual fund. Holders of this form of security also have their returns tied to the investing skill of the fund's management and to some extent to the rise and fall of the market value of such investments.

Dealers in stocks and bonds also tend to look upon the variable annuity as a competitor. Many persons buy stocks and bonds with the aim of assuring an income in old age.

Dealers and exchange officials naturally prefer that individuals buy stocks through them rather than through insurance companies. The hold

SOMETHING IN RESERVE—Three minutes after the phone rang at air operations, Naval Air Station, Grosse Ile, Mich., near Detroit, a pilot and hoist operator took off in a helicopter. Seventeen minutes and 20 miles later, they were over a "victim" stranded on ice. Down went the arm swing on the hoist and up came the "victim." Shortly afterward he was placed in a waiting ambulance at the base. It was a drill for Helicopter Utility Squadron 731, composed of civilian men in the reserve on two-week active training. They also train one weekend a month. The most important duty of a reservist is to be ready for any emergency. (Central Press)

Many Formal Steps Needed In Building of New School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With the turning of the first spadeful of earth this month, the Summit County community of Tallmadge takes a big step toward getting a new high school.

But it isn't the first step. It's the 37th, and there's one more to go.

The Tallmadge story will be one typical of those communities hard-pressed for new school space—and of the many formal procedures involved before a new school becomes a fact.

By taking the previous 36 steps without stumbling, Tallmadge became the first school district in the state to get money from a 150 million dollar bond issue approved by Ohio voters in 1955.

To get this far, the district had to get approval or action from the State Education Department and State Board of Education 19 times, and deal with the attorney general, State Finance Department, State Controlling Board, state treasurer, State Department of Industrial Relations, local board of elections and the voters.

Once construction is complete—probably a year from next fall—step No. 38 comes up. That's transfer of title and interest of the state to the district board.

Then, under the law, the district will begin 23 years of repaying the state. This is at the rate of a half-mill on every dollar of valuation recorded on the district's tax duplicate.

If a district gets sufficiently clear of local debt (primarily bond issues) to drop the rate on each dollar of valuation below 3½ mills, the law says it must take the difference between the lower rate and 4 mills and add it to the half-mill it is already paying the state.

Thus, if a district was assessing a 3.6-mill rate to pay off a local bond issue, and paying back the state at a half-mill rate besides, it might drop the rate to 3.3 when the local debt was pretty well paid. Then, the law says, it would have to take the difference between 3.3 and 4 mills—.7 mill—and add it to the half-mill rate.

The district would then be repaying the state at a 1.2-mill rate.

But the law also says a district can stop paying after 23 years. State school officials figure the state will only get about 40 per cent of its money back from help it gives to districts with 1955 bond issue funds.

Up to that time, although it didn't give too much (eight million in 1951-1955), the state's help to distressed school districts was administered in a relatively short time.

Then, in 1955, a special committee created two years earlier — called the Ohio School Survey Committee—told the Legislature that school districts were going to be 153 million dollars short in paying for new construction between 1955 and 1960.

The Legislature decided to put a constitutional amendment bond issue to the voters that fall. The 150 million in bonds, and the interest, were to be repaid through a one-cent cigarette tax.

However, legislative leaders worried about the possibility of a distressed school district becoming wealthy suddenly because of the arrival of new industry. This had happened twice when the state was making outright grants (which didn't have to be repaid).

So the amendment the voters approved stated that the state would sell or lease new classrooms to distressed districts. And of the 150 million dollars, 75 million was to be used for mental health and welfare institutions. The rest was to go for public school classrooms—and state universities or state buildings.

The Legislature met for a three-day special session a few weeks later, in January 1956, but didn't feel it had time to work out enabling legislation for the sell-or-lease provision.

It gave the State Board of Education 100,000 to study the situation, and the board hired Robert Heller & Associates of Cleveland. When the Heller firm reported in October 1956, it said districts could get along with 49½ million in state assistance.

From this came a procedure insuring tight state control (which became the 38 steps) of the project. Although President Elliott E. Meyers and three other members protested, the State Board of Education recommended the plan to the Legislature.

In the meantime, when it gave the board the $100,000 to study how to administer the program, the Legislature appropriated seven million from the surplus then in the treasury and earmarked it for classroom construction.

The new procedure was still being pondered, so the board set up a priority list for distressed districts, approved applications and, after the district had borrowed all it legally could, supplied the rest of the money to build classrooms.

In May 1957, the Legislature passed enabling legislation to go with the amendment. By November, the board had 75 applications for $44,700,000 in assistance, and by March it had reserved $8,300,000 of 10 millions in bond money appropriated by the Legislature in 1957.

Among those on the priority list of distressed districts was Tallmadge.

This year's appropriation (expected to be another 10 millions, although the State Education Department would like it to be 15) will exhaust the 1955 bond issue money.

But, while the state will have to devise new means of assisting distressed districts in the future, education officials are working at present to help districts on the priority list struggle through the 38 steps to state aid.

As one says: "Some controls are necessary, but there are just too damn' many here."

City Milkman Finds Friends Are Plentiful

CHICAGO (AP) — Edward T. Wesolowski, 47, who thought he had made many friends during his 15 years as a milkman in suburban Northlake, wasn't too sure for a while early this week.

But there was a happy ending to two surprising events arranged for the milkman.

The first surprise stemmed from a practical joke and left him quaking with fear as police took him to jail. He was photographed handcuffed and taken to the crowded courtroom of Police Magistrate Thomas J. Maloney.

As Maloney read the charges against Wesolowski, he brightened and got his second shocker of the day.

One of the charges read: "He did wilfully and unlawfully distribute and give away many gallons of milk and an equal amount of human kindness without reservation, not accepting gratuities in return, and did promote happiness among unfortunate residents of our community."

Many of his customers among the 75 persons in the court room knew he didn't press for payment of a bill if a family was having trouble. Often he gave fuel oil to customers who couldn't heat their homes, much less pay a milk bill.

As the court session broke up in cheers for Wesolowski, the spectators brought out coffee and cake for a little party. Wesolowski shook hands with customers, officials of the dairy company from which he buys milk and officials of the North Shore village of some 12,000 residents. He knew for sure he had friends.

Children Maturing At Earlier Age Now

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Farm and home week audiences at Ohio State University learned today that children are maturing at an earlier age now than did children of a decade ago.

A research team visited 16 public school districts in the state to gather the data. A total of 710 boys and girls in third, fourth and fifth grades were studied.

MAGIC FOR DESSERT — When it's time to heat the coffee to go with the dessert, Harriett Wolfe merely pushes a button to ignite the top burner on the gas range in the background. Here, she demonstrates the "magic" for Bob Eichhorn. The same surprising action will be demonstrated at the Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute.

All-Gas Stage Kitchen Sports Latest in Home Appliances

Even seasoned theater - goers will agree — you can see all the on-stage presentations in the country and never find one with a more practical stage setting than the one used by the Gasco - Herald Food and Modern Living Institute.

The reason? The stage setting is a kitchen — a practical, operating all-gas kitchen that is used throughout the show.

The Food Institute will appear here Tuesday and Wednesday, April 7 and 8 at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. Starting time will be at 7:30 p. m. for both sessions. Admission will be free.

The stage kitchen was designed by Miss Gaylee Ankerstjerne, kitchen planning consultant for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Not only is the kitchen practical for cooking and other housekeeping use, but it has been planned so that it can be moved easily from town to town.

Front and center of the stage is a demonstration table topped by a huge mirror. The table is used by Food Institute Lecturer Harriett Wolfe as she prepares various foods, while the big mirror reflects the foods and their preparation to the audience. Other than for the mirror-topped table, the Food Institute stage setting might be taken for any modern, well-equipped kitchen.

FREE-STANDING ranges, washer and dryer, refrigerator, automatic food mixer, grill, wall oven and fold-away top burners make up the appliance equipment in the kitchen. There is ample counter work space and a generous number of storage cabinets.

Cabinets are natural wood and white trim. Coppertone is used for the front of the gas-fueled wall oven, as well as for the hood over the grill.

Crisp gingham in an avocado-toned check has been used for the curtains covering the sham kitchen window. Copper molds and trivets are hung on the wall as accessories.

Those attending the Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute may well obtain practical ideas for their own kitchens from the stage kitchen — for here is a stage setting that has been designed not only as a backdrop for a stage presentation and for easy moving from place-to-place, but for the practical uses of cooking, laundering, and serving, as well.

Circleville Student Drivers Discover Traffic Miscues

During the week of March 20 to March 27 student driver training class of Circleville High School made a survey of pedestrian and motorist's habits.

These pupils and their instructor, Kester McCain, spent 14 hours on main thoroughfares and corners in Circleville and closely observed pedestrians and motorists.

The traffic violations:

Pedestrian violations — Jaywalking 278, Walking against the light 74, Standing in gutter 73, Stepping into street from between parked cars 50, Stepping out on street-side of car 33, Runing across the street 37.

Motorist's violations — Non-observance of stop signs 108, Driving through red lights 80, Failure to stop behind crosswalk 346, Turning corners from wrong traffic lane 83, Careless operation of vehicle 42.

McCain's comment was, "You'd be surprised if we could tell you some of the people who committed these violations."

Carpet Tack Robber Hits Finance Company

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The carpet tack robber struck again Wednesday. His latest victim was Mrs. Mary Gregg, assistant manager of the Fair Finance Co. in Cuyahoga Falls. Mrs. Gregg said the man pointed a long barrelled revolver at her, emptied a cash drawer of about $400, removed Mrs. Gregg's shoes, locked her in the furnace room and sprinkled tacks on the floor between that room and the telephone. A woman customer released Mrs. Gregg about 15 minutes later. Similar tactics have been used in hold ups at Akron, Bellevue, Medina, Wooster and Wadsworth.

MAGIC FOR DESSERT — When it's time to heat the coffee to go with the dessert, Harriett Wolfe merely pushes a button to ignite the top burner on the gas range in the background. Here, she demonstrates the "magic" for Bob Eichhorn. The same surprising action will be demonstrated at the Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute.

All-Gas Stage Kitchen Sports Latest in Home Appliances

Even seasoned theater-goers will agree — you can see all the on-stage presentations in the country and never find one with a more practical stage setting than the one used by the Gasco-Herald Food and Modern Living Institute.

The reason? The stage setting is a kitchen — a practical, operating all-gas kitchen that is used throughout the show.

The Food Institute will appear here Tuesday and Wednesday, April 7 and 8 at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. Starting time will be at 7:30 p. m. for both sessions. Admission will be free.

The stage kitchen was designed by Miss Gaylee Ankerstjerne, kitchen planning consultant for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Not only is the kitchen practical for cooking and other housekeeping use, but it has been planned so that it can be moved easily from town to town.

Front and center of the stage is a demonstration table topped by a huge mirror. The table is used by Food Institute Lecturer Harriett Wolfe as she prepares various foods, while the big mirror reflects the foods and their preparation to the audience. Other than for the mirror-topped table, the Food Institute stage setting might be taken for any modern, well-equipped kitchen.

FREE-STANDING ranges, washer and dryer, refrigerator, automatic food mixer, grill, wall oven and fold-away top burners make up the appliance equipment in the kitchen. There is ample counter work space and a generous number of storage cabinets.

Cabinets are natural wood and white trim. Coppertone is used for the front of the gas-fueled wall oven, as well as for the hood over the grill.

Crisp gingham in an avocado-toned check has been used for the curtains covering the sham kitchen window. Copper molds and trivets are hung on the wall as accessories.

Those attending the Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute may well obtain practical ideas for their own kitchens from the stage kitchen — for here is a stage setting that has been designed not only as a backdrop for a stage presentation and for easy moving from place-to-place, but for the practical uses of cooking, laundering, and serving, as well.

They presented a varied program to which the student audience responded enthusiastically.

Included in the program were "Law and Order" (March) by Alford; "Symphony No. 3" (first movement—Bliere; "March from Cinderella" — Rodgers; "Symphony for Band" — Persichetti; "Gallito" (Spanich march)—Lope; "Golliwogg's Cake Walk"—Debussy; "Serenade to a Sand Dune"—Abel; and several encores.

Jury Duty: Heart-Gripping Drama in All Local Courts

This is the last of a two-part article on juries, their procedures and selection in Pickaway County. Today's article will explain what a person may expect when caled to sit in judgment upon his fellow man and jury procedures during a trial.

By J. I. SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

In the minds of persons acquainted with court procedures and trials, those desiring to be excused from jury duty for unsubstantial reasons are a mystery.

One such person said recently that to sit in judgment of his fellow man is one of the most interesting moments in a person's lifetime and to reject this opportunity is beyond his knowledge.

Real life drama, more exciting, factual and suspenseful than any "soap opera" or "Playhouse 90" dramatization, takes place regularly in the Pickaway County Common Pleas, Circleville Municipal, Probate and Juvenile Courts.

All are open to the public and free of charge. An insight on how "the other half lives" can be easily ascertained after a few days in any courtroom.

Situations, problems and acts of humanity or inhumanity of every type present themselves daily in the courtrooms throughout the country and here in Pickaway County.

Criminal cases offer the most interesting listening and the downright brutal facts of living that go on around us every day.

The most common cases appearing in a courtroom before a judge or a jury include forgery; breaking and entering a home, building, business establishment and church by force;

Rape with and without consent; murder; manslaughter; robbery; shooting; bodily assault; blackmail; bigamy; malicious destruction of property; arson; grand or petit larceny;

Embezzlement; fraud; gambling; bribery and carrying concealed weapons. In this variety of crimes every known vice is involved.

A person chosen for the grand jury, 15 in all, usually meets on the first day of each new term to consider criminal cases.

Most criminal cases first appear in Municipal Court and are transferred to the Grand Jury upon a plea of not guilty by the accused. Muny Court hears no jury cases although it has legal jurisdiction to do so.

Petit jurors meet to hear cases set for trial by the common pleas court. The 85 petit jurors are rotated so that a person will not serve on two trials in a row.

The Grand Jury's procedings are secret. Before entering into session grand jurors are charged by the court. The court explains their duties and what is necessary evidence to indict the persons accused of crimes.

It takes 12 of the 15 jury members to bring an indictment. When ever a person is indicted it is called a true bill. When the jury doesn't feel there is enough evidence to justify prosecuting then it refuses to indict, which is called a no bill.

Only one side of the case is presented the grand jury — the state's side. State's witnesses are called to testify, but not the defendant's.

After all cases occurring the pervious term of court have been judged, the grand jury then inspects the County Jail.

Jurors inspect as to discipline of prisoners and their habits, diets and accommodations. After this inspection they report their findings to the court.

They must also see that Jail rules, prescribed by the court, have been kept and faithfully observed. The grand jury usually meets just once during a term, but can meet more often if the court so desires.

Petit juries meet to consider both criminal and civil cases. The court is solely the judge of domestic relations cases.

It takes nine of 12 to reach a verdict either for or against the defendant or plaintiff in civil cases.

Criminal cases require unanimous verdicts to convict. One juror refusing to find the defendant guilty will result in a "hung" jury and then the case may be dismissed or re-tried.

Civil cases include negligence cases, including accidents; right of eminent domain; setting of compensation and damages for property taken by state, city, county or political subdivision;

Will contesting cases to determine if the person making out the will was of sound mind when the will was made or if the person was under restraint, and actions for money due.

When a group of prospective jurors are summoned to appear to hear a trial an average of 25 persons are called.

This larger amount is summoned because lawyers representing both sides of the cases are allowed a certain number of challenges.

These challenges give the respective attorneys a right to request removal of certain jurors who may have knowledge pertaining to the case at hand or have prejudices that would be detrimental to either side of the case.

Many jurors are asked to step down because they are socially acquainted with either attorney or either plaintiff or defendant.

The actual trial may take a day or sometimes weeks. During this time jurors hearing the evidence are not allowed to discuss the case with anyone, even their families and fellow jury members.

No conclusions of the case are discussed until the trial is over; the presiding judge has instructed the jury what alternative verdicts it may bring in; what evidence was admissable and what should be disregarded, and it has retired to the jury room for decision.

Remember, to serve on a jury sitting in judgment of your neighbor or fellow man is a great American Constitutional privilege and should be exercised by all when called.

To refuse is denying yourself a right guaranteed to you under the Constitution, a right that is a part of the many rights and privileges that have made the United States the outstanding country in the world.

Just one word of caution for those who desire jury duty. Do not ask either member of the jury commission, the sheriff, the clerk of court or the common pleas judge to put you on a jury. This request will assure immediate disqualification as a juror.

to me. "It must have been an illusion. Or a trick. Yes, it was a trick. And the light is bad. One can play tricks more easily when the light is bad. Isn't that so, Valerius?"

I had no ready answer.

The trial by candlelight before the high priest Caiaphas disgusted me. Hatred showed in ever priestly move. The Galilean, strangely, seemed to pity them for their hate. The priests ranted; the Galilean was calm, as if it were he who was judging them.

He was accused of blasphemy, yet the witnesses brought against him could not substantiate the charge for they contradicted themselves and each other. It fell to the Galilean, for what reason I know not, to convict himself, at least in the eyes of the priests.

"Tell us, Nazarene," said the high priest Caiaphas, "tell us, are you the Son of God as you claim?"

The Galilean needed only to remain silent, for none present had shown the ability to refute him. Instead, he answered readily, and not in a manner calculated to save himself. It was almost as if he wanted to die.

"It is as you have said," he replied calmly. "But I say to you, in the hereafter you shall see the son of man sitting at the right hand of God and coming on the clouds of heaven."

"Blasphemy!" exclaimed the high priest, turning to the other priests. "Clearly blasphemy! What need we of further witness? The Nazarene convicts himself by his own words! How say we?"

"Death," intoned the other priests, nodding to each other, their darkly bearded faces grim in the flickering light. The Galilean, tranquil in the face of death, was led away to be prepared for his appearance before the Procurator.

After Pilate has freed him, as he surely will, I have decided to speak personally with the Galilean. There are some questions I feel I must ask him, my father, urgent questions. Questions that I feel cannot be answered by any one else.

Only 9 States Have Executed Woman During Recent Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-one states and the District of Columbia sanction the death penalty for convicted criminals. But only nine states have executed a woman in recent years.

California is one of the nine, and its last experience with a woman in its gas chamber was so distasteful that a legislative effort now is underway to abolish capital punishment.

But, ironically, it was the state of California that Tuesday became the latest to doom a woman to death. She is Elizabeth Duncan, whose jealous love of her 30-year-old son drove her to promise two men $6,000 to kill her daughter-in-law.

It was the 1955 execution of Barbara Graham, 32, in the San Quention prison gas chamber that sickened many Californians on capital punishment.

A prostitute turned robber, she died with two professional robbers for the murder of a 63-year-old Burbank, Calif., widow in a robbery attempt. The case formed the basis for a current movie, "I Want to Live," starring Susan Hayward.

After Miss Graham's death, Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, now governor of California, was moved to declare: "This business today has been like some dark memory out of the Roman Coliseum."

"I hope Barbara Graham will be the last woman to be executed in the state of California."

New York, probably, has executed more women than any other state—eight by state decree and a ninth by mandate of the federal government. The latter was a participant with her husband in one of the most infamous cases in American history—the Rosenberg atomic spy case.

Ethel Rosenberg went with her husband Julius to Sing Sing's electric chair June 19, 1953. She died with no display of emotion.

In recent years, Ohio has put three women to death in the electric chair, and South Carolina and Alabama have electrocuted two each. Illinois has electrocuted one. So has Virginia, but not since 1911.

Two women have gone to the gas chamber in South Carolina, and one in Missouri. In the latter state, years ago, a murderess was hanged.

Chief products of the Somalilands in east Africa (British, French, Italian) are hides, ivory and incense.

Jury Duty: Heart-Gripping Drama in All Local Courts

This is the last of a two-part article on juries, their procedures and selection in Pickaway County. Today's article will explain what a person may expect when caled to sit in judgment upon his fellow man and jury procedures during a trial.

By J. I. SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

In the minds of persons acquainted with court procedures and trials, those desiring to be excused from jury duty for unsubstantial reasons are a mystery.

One such person said recently that to sit in judgment of his fellow man is one of the most interesting moments in a person's lifetime and to reject this opportunity is beyond his knowledge.

Real life drama, more exciting, factual and suspenseful than any "soap opera" or "Playhouse 90" dramatization, takes place regularly in the Pickaway County Common Pleas, Circleville Municipal, Probate and Juvenile Courts.

All are open to the public and free of charge. An insight on how "the other half lives" can be easily ascertained after a few days in any courtroom.

Situations, problems and acts of humanity or inhumanity of every type present themselves daily in the courtrooms throughout the country and here in Pickaway County.

Criminal cases offer the most interesting listening and the downright brutal facts of living that go on around us every day.

The most common cases appearing in a courtroom before a judge or a jury include forgery; breaking and entering a home, building, business establishment and church by force;

Rape with and without consent; murder; manslaughter; robbery; shooting; bodily assault; blackmail; bigamy; malicious destruction of property; arson; grand or petit larceny;

Embezzlement; fraud; gambling; bribery and carrying concealed weapons. In this variety of crimes every known vice is involved.

A person chosen for the grand jury, 15 in all, usually meets on the first day of each new term to consider criminal cases.

Most criminal cases first appear in Municipal Court and are transferred to the Grand Jury upon a plea of not guilty by the accused. Muny Court hears no jury cases although it has legal jurisdiction to do so.

Petit jurors meet to hear cases set for trial by the common pleas court. The 85 petit jurors are rotated so that a person will not serve on two trials in a row.

The Grand Jury's procedings are secret. Before entering into session grand jurors are charged by the court. The court explains their duties and what is necessary evidence to indict the persons accused of crimes.

It takes 12 of the 15 jury members to bring an indictment. When ever a person is indicted it is called a true bill. When the jury doesn't feel there is enough evidence to justify prosecuting then it refuses to indict, which is called a no bill.

Only one side of the case is presented the grand jury — the state's side. State's witnesses are called to testify, but not the defendant's.

After all cases occurring the pervious term of court have been judged, the grand jury then inspects the County Jail.

Jurors inspect as to discipline of prisoners and their habits, diets and accommodations. After this inspection they report their findings to the court.

They must also see that Jail rules, prescribed by the court, have been kept and faithfully observed. The grand jury usually meets just once during a term, but can meet more often if the court so desires.

Petit juries meet to consider both criminal and civil cases. The court is solely the judge of domestic relations cases.

It takes nine of 12 to reach a verdict either for or against the defendant or plaintiff in civil cases.

Criminal cases require unanimous verdicts to convict. One juror refusing to find the defendant guilty will result in a "hung" jury and then the case may be dismissed or re-tried.

Civil cases include negligence cases, including accidents; right of eminent domain; setting of compensation and damages for property taken by state, city, county or political subdivision;

Will contesting cases to determine if the person making out the will was of sound mind when the will was made or if the person was under restraint, and actions for money due.

When a group of prospective jurors are summoned to appear to hear a trial an average of 25 persons are called.

This larger amount is summoned because lawyers representing both sides of the cases are allowed a certain number of challenges.

These challenges give the respective attorneys a right to request removal of certain jurors who may have knowledge pertaining to the case at hand or have prejudices that would be detrimental to either side of the case.

Many jurors are asked to step down because they are socially acquainted with either attorney or either plaintiff or defendant.

The actual trial may take a day or sometimes weeks. During this time jurors hearing the evidence are not allowed to discuss the case with anyone, even their families and fellow jury members.

No conclusions of the case are discussed until the trial is over; the presiding judge has instructed the jury what alternative verdicts it may bring in; what evidence was admissable and what should be disregarded, and it has retired to the jury room for decision.

Remember, to serve on a jury sitting in judgment of your neighbor or fellow man is a great American Constitutional privilege and should be exercised by all when called.

To refuse is denying yourself a right guaranteed to you under the Constitution, a right that is a part of the many rights and privileges that have made the United States the outstanding country in the world.

Just one word of caution for those who desire jury duty. Do not ask either member of the jury commission, the sheriff, the clerk of court or the common pleas judge to put you on a jury. This request will assure immediate disqualification as a juror.

to me. "It must have been an illusion. Or a trick. Yes, it was a trick. And the light is bad. One can play tricks more easily when the light is bad. Isn't that so, Valerius?"

I had no ready answer.

The trial by candlelight before the high priest Caiaphas disgusted me. Hatred showed in ever priestly move. The Galilean, strangely, seemed to pity them for their hate. The priests ranted; the Galilean was calm, as if it were he who was judging them.

He was accused of blasphemy, yet the witnesses brought against him could not substantiate the charge for they contradicted themselves and each other. It fell to the Galilean, for what reason I know not, to convict himself, at least in the eyes of the priests.

"Tell us, Nazarene," said the high priest Caiaphas, "tell us, are you the Son of God as you claim?"

The Galilean needed only to remain silent, for none present had shown the ability to refute him. Instead, he answered readily, and not in a manner calculated to save himself. It was almost as if he wanted to die.

"It is as you have said," he replied calmly. "But I say to you, in the hereafter you shall see the son of man sitting at the right hand of God and coming on the clouds of heaven."

"Blasphemy!" exclaimed the high priest, turning to the other priests. "Clearly blasphemy! What need we of further witness? The Nazarene convicts himself by his own words! How say we?"

"Death," intoned the other priests, nodding to each other, their darkly bearded faces grim in the flickering light. The Galilean, tranquil in the face of death, was led away to be prepared for his appearance before the Procurator.

After Pilate has freed him, as he surely will, I have decided to speak personally with the Galilean. There are some questions I feel I must ask him, my father, urgent questions. Questions that I feel cannot be answered by any one else.

Only 9 States Have Executed Woman During Recent Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-one states and the District of Columbia sanction the death penalty for convicted criminals. But only nine states have executed a woman in recent years.

California is one of the nine, and its last experience with a woman in its gas chamber was so distasteful that a legislative effort now is underway to abolish capital punishment.

But, ironically, it was the state of California that Tuesday became the latest to doom a woman to death. She is Elizabeth Duncan, whose jealous love of her 30-year-old son drove her to promise two men $6,000 to kill her daughter-in-law.

It was the 1955 execution of Barbara Graham, 32, in the San Quention prison gas chamber that sickened many Californians on capital punishment.

A prostitute turned robber, she died with two professional robbers for the murder of a 63-year-old Burbank, Calif., widow in a robbery attempt. The case formed the basis for a current movie, "I Want to Live," starring Susan Hayward.

After Miss Graham's death, Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, now governor of California, was moved to declare: "This business today has been like some dark memory out of the Roman Coliseum."

"I hope Barbara Graham will be the last woman to be executed in the state of California."

New York, probably, has executed more women than any other state—eight by state decree and a ninth by mandate of the federal government. The latter was a participant with her husband in one of the most infamous cases in American history—the Rosenberg atomic spy case.

Ethel Rosenberg went with her husband Julius to Sing Sing's electric chair June 19, 1953. She died with no display of emotion.

In recent years, Ohio has put three women to death in the electric chair, and South Carolina and Alabama have electrocuted two each. Illinois has electrocuted one. So has Virginia, but not since 1911.

Two women have gone to the gas chamber in South Carolina, and one in Missouri. In the latter state, years ago, a murderess was hanged.

Air Force Boom Rocks Wilmington

By TOM HUNTER

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Early in January 1958, a cryptic dispatch, datelined Washington, D. C. announced that Clinton County Air Force Base, Wilmington, had been assigned $8,776,000 in President Eisenhower's emergency defense program.

The only explanation was that the funds would be used for "alert and de-centralization of Strategic Air Command long range bombers."

The Air Force began a land acquisition program.

And then on Aug. 4, 1958, it dropped its bombshell. It said that there woud be a 3,100-person boost at CCAFB by mid-1960 and that the base was scheduled to become a home for the Strategic Air Command's KC97 tanker planes.

The news rocked Wilmington and the neighboring communities. Most folks knew only that CCAFB's primary mission was the training of reservists.

School officials learned that they could expect 1,240 additional families here by mid-1960, that the families included 2,480 children and that 868 of the children would be of school age. The board was applied for some $900,000 in federal school construction funds.

Primarily an agricultural community, Wilmington has never experienced a population surge. The city's general fund is in the red. Voters will decide on a three-mill operating levy at the polls next November.

Hospital people are taking a long look at Clinton Memorial Hospital's 80-bed capacity. The city is wondering about its services and the strength of its fire and police departments.

The initial $8,776,000 to be spent at the base has grown some. The total for 1958 was $12,784,992. The total for 1959 is not definitely contracted, but it will run about $8,743,000. And there may be at least another eight million in the 1960 offing.

The activity picture at the base come mid-1960, according to present information, wil look like this:

SAC's 4090th Air Refueling Wing will be in full operation. There will be two squadrons on duty, involving some 40 KC97 tanker planes. The reserve training mission will continue.

There will be about eight or nine million spent annually in payroll and operations money, with the bulk expected to go into the community's economic bloodstream.

The Air Force is trying to indoctrinate the citizens of this community (Wilmington's population is about 9,000) to set the stage for mid-1960. To a degree it has been successful. But there are still some oldtimers who smile tolerantly and say:

"That place has had its ups and downs as long as it's been here . . . we're used to stories about the field. . . ."

Newly Merged Church Issues Its Doctrine

NEW YORK — A statement of faith, affirming ancient Christian doctrines in modern phraseology, was proposed today for the newly formed United Church of Christ.

The denomination is made up of a merger of Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed Churches.

The statement of faith, considered a basic document for any religious body, will be presented for action to the General Synod of the United Church at Oberlin, Ohio in July. It was released at a new conference, upholds most of the traditional doctrines of Christianity, but does so in up-to-date terminology rather than the customary language.

It sets forth such concepts as Christ's divinity, his cruicifixion and resurrection, his atonement for man's sin and faith in eternal life.

It makes no mention of the virgin birth. It supports the doctrine of the Holy Trinity but doesn't use those words.

The form of the statement has attracted wide interest because of the diverse background of the two merging churches. The Congregational Christian Churches are traditionally non-creedal, allowing considerable leeway in the beliefs of individual members.

Six of the 12 tree farmer winners in the recent nation-wide 4-H forestry contest were girls.

Rules Given For Raising Delinquents

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Police Department has compiled "Twelve Rules for Raising Delinquent Children." They are:

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.
2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will encourage him to pick up "cuter" phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.
3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait till he is 21 and then let him "decide for himself."
4. Avoid use of the word "wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe, later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being persecuted.
5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes and clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on to others.
6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.
7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.
8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?
9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink, and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.
10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.
11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself, by saying "I never could do anything with him."
12. Prepare for a life of grief. You will be apt to have it.

Toledo Asks Visit From USS Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)— Mayor John Yager asked the Navy today to include the Cruiser Toledo in the task force that will tour the Great Lakes this summer in conjunction with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

In a telegram to Rear Adm. B. M. Rittenhouse of the Office of Naval Operations, the mayor noted that the cruiser is the only naval vessel on active duty that is named after a Great Lakes port.

The Toledo is a sister ship of the Cruiser Macon, which is to be part of the task force.

At last report, the Toledo was in the Pacific Ocean.

Ohio Newswomen Get Stock Gift For Scholarship

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Newspaper Women's Assn. has received a gift of stock, income from which is to be used for an annual scholarship in memory of the donor's late wife.

The gift of 23 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. stock came from William C. France of Tucson, Ariz. The association said the gift makes it possible to continue a college journalism scholarship in the memory of the late Ruth Neely France. In the past two years, France has given the group $200 to continue the memoriam.

Said Mary Ellen Wofe, Dayton Journal Herald reporter and ONWA president:

"It is our deep hope that from the ranks of scholarship winners may come others who will elevate the standards of our profession as did Ruth Neely France, founder of the annual ONWA writing contests, author, historian and Cincinnati newspaperwoman."

Judge Is Sorry, But Bail Denied

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Although he was sympathetic to the request, Pennsylvania's constitution stopped the judge from freeing a 90-year-old man accused of killing his aged and sick wife.

The unusual request to free George Hope, at least until his trial starts, was made in Common Pleas Court Tuesday by Asst. Dist. Atty. Paul M. Chalfin and Albert S. Oliensis, the old man's attorney.

But Judge Ethan A. Doty said the constitution allows bail in all but capital cases where the proof is evident or presumption of guilt is great.

The two attorneys had sought to have Hope released in the custody of his daughter, Lucy Dickie, 61, of Newburyport, Mass.

Hope remained in a hospital bed Tuesday while his 90-year-old wife, Ada, was buried.

Ike Has No Data On Supression

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that so far as he knows there has been no government suppression of information on radioactive fallout.

"Every effort is being made by this government to develop the facts about fallout and to disclose these facts fully to the public," Eisenhower said in a statement.

The President backed up Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission who denied Tuesday that his organization has bottled up any fallout information.

Some members of Congress have contended that the government needlessly has refused to make public certain fallout data on the grounds such publication would endanger national security.

U.S. Aide Evaluates Soviet Sub Force

LONDON (AP)—U. S. Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr., said today the Soviet Union has about 450 submarines compared to the 125 the United States could put into action, "but numbers aren't everything."

The United States has 33 nuclear-powered submarines actually in service or being completed, Gates told a news conference. He said he expected Congress will authorize building three more.

All of the Soviet subs are presumed to be of conventional design.

Gates is in Europe to inspect installations of the U. S. 6th Feet, which is concentrated in the Mediterranean, and to confer with officials of allied nations.

Truck Firm Asks PUCO For Crossing Safety

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Philadelphia trucking firm, Brooke Matlack, Inc., has asked the Utilities Commission for flasher signals or a full-time watchman at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing on Ohio 7 in Wellsville (Columbiana County). The company said the crossing is hard to see at night because of "very bright flood lights located on railroad property, beamed in the eyes of the motor vehicle driver."

Air Force Boom Rocks Wilmington

By TOM HUNTER

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Early in January 1958, a cryptic dispatch, datelined Washington, D. C. announced that Clinton County Air Force Base, Wilmington, had been assigned $8,776,000 in President Eisenhower's emergency defense program.

The only explanation was that the funds would be used for "alert and de-centralization of Strategic Air Command long range bombers."

The Air Force began a land acquisition program.

And then on Aug. 4, 1958, it dropped its bombshell. It said that there woud be a 3,100-person boost at CCAFB by mid-1960 and that the base was scheduled to become a home for the Strategic Air Command's KC97 tanker planes.

The news rocked Wilmington and the neighboring communities. Most folks knew only that CCAFB's primary mission was the training of reservists.

School officials learned that they could expect 1,240 additional families here by mid-1960, that the families included 2,480 children and that 868 of the children would be of school age. The board was applied for some $900,000 in federal school construction funds.

Primarily an agricultural community, Wilmington has never experienced a population surge. The city's general fund is in the red. Voters will decide on a three-mill operating levy at the polls next November.

Hospital people are taking a long look at Clinton Memorial Hospital's 80-bed capacity. The city is wondering about its services and the strength of its fire and police departments.

The initial $8,776,000 to be spent at the base has grown some. The total for 1958 was $12,784,992. The total for 1959 is not definitely contracted, but it will run about $8,743,000. And there may be at least another eight million in the 1960 offing.

The activity picture at the base come mid-1960, according to present information, wil look like this:

SAC's 4090th Air Refueling Wing will be in full operation. There will be two squadrons on duty, involving some 40 KC97 tanker planes. The reserve training mission will continue.

There will be about eight or nine million spent annually in payroll and operations money, with the bulk expected to go into the community's economic bloodstream.

The Air Force is trying to indoctrinate the citizens of this community (Wilmington's population is about 9,000) to set the stage for mid-1960. To a degree it has been successful. But there are still some oldtimers who smile tolerantly and say:

"That place has had its ups and downs as long as it's been here . . . we're used to stories about the field. . . ."

Newly Merged Church Issues Its Doctrine

NEW YORK — A statement of faith, affirming ancient Christian doctrines in modern phraseology, was proposed today for the newly formed United Church of Christ.

The denomination is made up of a merger of Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed Churches.

The statement of faith, considered a basic document for any religious body, will be presented for action to the General Synod of the United Church at Oberlin, Ohio in July. It was released at a new conference, upholds most of the traditional doctrines of Christianity, but does so in up-to-date terminology rather than the customary language.

It sets forth such concepts as Christ's divinity, his cruicifixion and resurrection, his atonement for man's sin and faith in eternal life.

It makes no mention of the virgin birth. It supports the doctrine of the Holy Trinity but doesn't use those words.

The form of the statement has attracted wide interest because of the diverse background of the two merging churches. The Congregational Christian Churches are traditionally non-creedal, allowing considerable leeway in the beliefs of individual members.

Six of the 12 tree farmer winners in the recent nation-wide 4-H forestry contest were girls.

Rules Given For Raising Delinquents

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Police Department has compiled "Twelve Rules for Raising Delinquent Children." They are:

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.
2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will encourage him to pick up "cuter" phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.
3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait till he is 21 and then let him "decide for himself."
4. Avoid use of the word "wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe, later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being persecuted.
5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes and clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on to others.
6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.
7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.
8. Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?
9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink, and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.
10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.
11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself, by saying "I never could do anything with him."
12. Prepare for a life of grief. You will be apt to have it.

Ohio Newswomen Get Stock Gift For Scholarship

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Newspaper Women's Assn. has received a gift of stock, income from which is to be used for an annual scholarship in memory of the donor's late wife.

The gift of 23 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. stock came from William C. France of Tucson, Ariz. The association said the gift makes it possible to continue a college journalism scholarship in the memory of the late Ruth Neely France. In the past two years, France has given the group $200 to continue the memoriam.

Said Mary Ellen Wofe, Dayton Journal Herald reporter and ONWA president:

"It is our deep hope that from the ranks of scholarship winners may come others who will elevate the standards of our profession as did Ruth Neely France, founder of the annual ONWA writing contests, author, historian and Cincinnati newspaperwoman."

Bob Anderson Stars for Cubs

Right-Hander Chalks Second Mound Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Cubs seem to have turned up a good pitcher in a raw-boned right-hander, Bob Anderson.

He went nine innings when he whipped San Francisco on a strong four-hitter last Friday and came back Wednesday with a fine seven-inning performance.

The 6-4, 200-pound Anderson permitted only two earned runs and six hits before giving way to fellow rookie Johnny Buzhardt, who nailed down the Cubs' 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians at Tucson.

He has the big strikeout pitch. In 127 innings at Fort Worth in the Texas League last year he fanned 121. He worked 66 innings for the Cubs in his late trial and whiffed 51.

The Cub power helped him much Wednesday as Lee Walls, Earl Averill and Bobby Thomson chipped in with home runs off Cleveland loser Dick Stigman.

San Francisco celebrated the acquisition of Sad (Sam) Jones from St. Louis with a 9-4 victory over Boston at Scottsdale, Ariz., and Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 4-1 at Tampa, Philadelphia edged Detroit 4-3 at Lakeland, Milwaukee bombed Los Angeles 8-4 at Vero Beach, the Chicago White Sox toppled Pittsburgh 4-2 at Fort Myers, Washington downed Baltimore 5-1 at Orlando, and Kansas City edged New York 3-2 at West Palm Beach.

The Giants, who gave up Bill White and Ray Jablonski to get Jones, clubbed Red Sox ace Tommy Brewer for 10 hits and 8 runs in 7 innings—handing Boston its fifth straight loss. Giants' ace Johnny Antonelli worked five innings, allowing only two hits.

Frank Robinson's fourth homer of the spring and a five-hitter by route-going Orlando Pena enabled the Reds to break a seven-game losing streak, and a three-run rally against Jim Bunning won for the Phils over Detroit.

Britain Boils In Hassle Over U.S. Bout

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Britain's biggest boxing row in years flared today with a British heavyweight hurling defiance at officials who forbade him to fight America's world heavyweight king Floyd Patterson.

The country's boxing bosses—the British Board of Boxing Control—banned Brian London from meeting Patterson for the world title in Las Vegas, Nev., April 21.

They claimed the bout would not be in the best interests of British boxing.

London promptly announced he would go ahead with the bout anyway.

"I've got a big pay day coming ($75,000) and a chance to win the world title," the pugnacious, 24-year-old Briton said. "I'll risk suspension at home for that."

U.S. boxing bigwigs appeared ready to go along with London, although their statements were cautions.

Dr. Ward Wylie, president of the National Boxing Assn., said: "The NBA will recognize any logical contender."

The controversy stems from London's last fight, against Henry Cooper.

Cooper used a jabbing left to take away London's British title. London was made to look like a novice as he plodded smack into the nagging lefts of Cooper.

Experts argue Cooper should be the man tackling Patterson but Cooper lost his chance by asking for too much money—$140,000.

Academic Ax Falls on 3 Stars at OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The academic ax fell on Ohio State University football and track teams. Two star gridiron players and the leading pointmaker on the indoor track squad will be ineligible for competition this year after failing to meet their grades.

The Ohio State Journal disclosed this today and named the three as gridders Jim Marshall, a tackle; Sam Tidmore, an end, and track star Lee Williams, who also plays football.

The Journal said Marshall and Tidmore lost the battle with the books the past winter quarter and will be ineligible for the 1959 football season. Williams also tripped scholastically, the newspaper said it learned, and will be out of spring track competition.

The Journal said Marshall failed two courses and in all likelihood will be dropped from the university.

Tidmore did not fail any course, the Journal said, but also ended the winter quarter with a point average too low for university requirements.

Orlando Pena Aids Reds in Victory

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The first taste of victory after a seven day diet of defeat, still lingered with the Cincinnati Redlegs today — thanks to a sterling five-hit, nine-inning hurling stint in Tampa by Orlando Pena in downing St. Louis 4-1.

Pena, a skinny right - handed Cuban, thus became the first Redleg hurler to go to the distance this spring. He could well be the bellcow of the pitching staff the Reds have been looking for.

Wednesday's appearance was Pena's fourth of the exhibition season. In 26 innings he has given up only five runs, one unearned, on 21 hits, while fanning 13 and walking but five.

Major League Prospects

Lack of Pitching Slows Cubs Again

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs have finished in the second division of the National League 12 solid years. And, unless they achieve overnight pitching prosperity, they may have trouble keeping better company this year.

This is almost exactly the same team that finished last season in a fifth-place tie with St. Louis. Even this modest achievement is a bit misleading because the Cubs wound up only a game out of seventh place.

Chicago's leading man of course is Ernie Banks. Behind him are long-ball hitters like Walt Moryn, Dale Long, Bobby Thomson and Lee Walls.

Manager Bob Scheffing thinks his pitchers have good potential, but admits he's not certain the potential will be realized this year.

"When you've got a staff of young pitchers," he said, "and none of them is proven, you haven't got much to go on in trying to figure out how you're going to do. Now, we've got Drabowsky and Drott and Hillman. I know something about them. But some of the others — well, we just don't know."

Dave Hillman, who was 4-8 last year, could be the only starter over 25. He's 31. Moe Drabowsky (9-11) is only 23 and Dick Drott (7-11) is 22.

Other youngsters looking for starting jobs include Bob Anderson (3-3), Glen Hobbie (10-6) and southpaw Taylor Phillips (7-10).

The regular starting lineup will look something like this: Cal Neeman (.259) or Sammy Taylor (.259) at catcher, Long (.271) at first, Tony Taylor (.235) at second, Banks (.315) at short, Al Dark (.295) at third, and Walls (.304), Thomson (.283) and Moryn (.264) in the outfield.

"And maybe this George Altman," Scheffing added. Altman, who hit .325 for Pueblo last season, has performed ably in the outfield this spring.

In 1958, the Cubs were second only to San Francisco in team scoring. Banks was the major run producer with 47 homers and 129 RBIS. But Moryn, Walls, Thomson and Long hit at least 20 homers each and noen drove in fewer than 72 runs.

Walnut Bops Monroe, 17-3

Host Walnut's Lloyd Davidson tossed a four-hitter over Monroe yesterday afternoon to take the shortened five inning fray, 17-3.

The Walnut Tigers pounded out seven hits, garnered 10 walks and pilfered 10 bases on three Monroe hurlers. They were Steve Fullen, Larry Bigam and Keith Sheets.

David Weaver and James Riley led Walnut with two hits apiece. Boysel and Bigam led the Monroe Indians with a triple each.

Track, Baseball Squads Prep For April Opening Contests

Plenty of sunshine and warm weather this week has prompted Circleville High School's baseball and track squads to get in some vitally needed outside practice.

Both teams have been outside every day this week, making hurried preparations for opening tests which are just around the corner. Coach Dick Fisher's baseballers open April 3 at Chillicothe and Coach John Current's cindermen start action April 7 at Wilmington.

The baseball crew has been working out at Ted Lewis Park, with the accent on hitting, throwing and baserunning. The diamond still needs additional grading and dragging before it will be suitable for adequate infield practice.

The Tiger pitching staff appears to be shaping up in good form, with Adkins, Duane Dean, Bob Caudill and Don Rowland getting in work on the mound.

INFIELDERS Cal Ellis, Ray Phifer, Rowland and Bill Purcell seem to have retained the sharpness which made them one of the best combinations in the SCOL last year.

Power hitting catcher Harry Strawser has been tagging the ball well in batting practice. He probably will be backed up behind the plate by Brent Bell, another dependable receiver.

Patrolling the outfield are veteran Jim Woods, Dick Greenlee, Jake Bailey, Dan Leonhardt, Bob Shadley and a host of other promising candidates.

Pacing the track squad so far are Larry Hannahs who can perform in multiple events, dash man Gary Vandemark, discus thrower Dick Gerhardt, pole vaulter Dick Warner and several other promising newcomers.

Bob Anderson Stars for Cubs

Right-Hander Chalks Second Mound Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Cubs seem to have turned up a good pitcher in a raw-boned right-hander, Bob Anderson.

He went nine innings when he whipped San Francisco on a strong four-hitter last Friday and came back Wednesday with a fine seven-inning performance.

The 6-4, 200-pound Anderson permitted only two earned runs and six hits before giving way to fellow rookie Johnny Buzhardt, who nailed down the Cubs' 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians at Tucson.

He has the big strikeout pitch. In 127 innings at Fort Worth in the Texas League last year he fanned 121. He worked 66 innings for the Cubs in his late trial and whiffed 51.

The Cub power helped him much Wednesday as Lee Walls, Earl Averill and Bobby Thomson chipped in with home runs off Cleveland loser Dick Stigman.

San Francisco celebrated the acquisition of Sad (Sam) Jones from St. Louis with a 9-4 victory over Boston at Scottsdale, Ariz., and Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 4-1 at Tampa, Philadelphia edged Detroit 4-3 at Lakeland, Milwaukee bombed Los Angeles 8-4 at Vero Beach, the Chicago White Sox toppled Pittsburgh 4-2 at Fort Myers, Washington downed Baltimore 5-1 at Orlando, and Kansas City edged New York 3-2 at West Palm Beach.

The Giants, who gave up Bill White and Ray Jablonski to get Jones, clubbed Red Sox ace Tommy Brewer for 10 hits and 8 runs in 7 innings—handing Boston its fifth straight loss. Giants' ace Johnny Antonelli worked five innings, allowing only two hits.

Frank Robinson's fourth homer of the spring and a five-hitter by route-going Orlando Pena enabled the Reds to break a seven-game losing streak, and a three-run rally against Jim Bunning won for the Phils over Detroit.

Britain Boils In Hassle Over U.S. Bout

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Britain's biggest boxing row in years flared today with a British heavyweight hurling defiance at officials who forbade him to fight America's world heavyweight king Floyd Patterson.

The country's boxing bosses—the British Board of Boxing Control—banned Brian London from meeting Patterson for the world title in Las Vegas, Nev., April 21.

They claimed the bout would not be in the best interests of British boxing.

London promptly announced he would go ahead with the bout anyway.

"I've got a big pay day coming ($75,000) and a chance to win the world title," the pugnacious, 24-year-old Briton said. "I'll risk suspension at home for that."

U.S. boxing bigwigs appeared ready to go along with London, although their statements were cautious.

Dr. Ward Wylie, president of the National Boxing Assn., said: "The NBA will recognize any logical contender."

The controversy stems from London's last fight, against Henry Cooper.

Cooper used a jabbing left to take away London's British title. London was made to look like a novice as he plodded smack into the nagging lefts of Cooper.

Experts argue Cooper should be the man tackling Patterson but Cooper lost his chance by asking for too much money—$140,000.

Academic Ax Falls on 3 Stars at OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The academic ax fell on Ohio State University football and track teams. Two star gridiron players and the leading pointmaker on the indoor track squad will be ineligible for competition this year after failing to meet their grades.

The Ohio State Journal disclosed this today and named the three as gridders Jim Marshall, a tackle; Sam Tidmore, an end, and track star Lee Williams, who also plays football.

The Journal said Marshall and Tidmore lost the battle with the books the past winter quarter and will be ineligible for the 1959 football season. Williams also tripped scholastically, the newspaper said it learned, and will be out of spring track competition.

The Journal said Marshall failed two courses and in all likelihood will be dropped from the university.

Tidmore did not fail any course, the Journal said, but also ended the winter quarter with a point average too low for university requirements.

Orlando Pena Aids Reds in Victory

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The first taste of victory after a seven-day diet of defeat, still lingered with the Cincinnati Redlegs today — thanks to a sterling five-hit, nine-inning hurling stint in Tampa by Orlando Pena in downing St. Louis 4-1.

Pena, a skinny right - handed Cuban, thus became the first Redleg hurler to go to the distance this spring. He could well be the bellcow of the pitching staff the Reds have been looking for.

Wednesday's appearance was Pena's fourth of the exhibition season. In 26 innings he has given up only five runs, one unearned, on 21 hits, while fanning 13 and walking but five.

Major League Prospects

Lack of Pitching Slows Cubs Again

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs have finished in the second division of the National League 12 solid years. And, unless they achieve overnight pitching prosperity, they may have trouble keeping better company this year.

This is almost exactly the same team that finished last season in a fifth-place tie with St. Louis. Even this modest achievement is a bit misleading because the Cubs wound up only a game out of seventh place.

Chicago's leading man of course is Ernie Banks. Behind him are long-ball hitters like Walt Moryn, Dale Long, Bobby Thomson and Lee Walls.

Manager Bob Scheffing thinks his pitchers have good potential, but admits he's not certain the potential will be realized this year.

"When you've got a staff of young pitchers," he said, "and none of them is proven, you haven't got much to go on in trying to figure out how you're going to do. Now, we've got Drabowsky and Drott and Hillman. I know something about them. But some of the others — well, we just don't know."

Dave Hillman, who was 4-8 last year, could be the only starter over 25. He's 31. Moe Drabowsky (9-11) is only 23 and Dick Drott (7-11) is 22.

Other youngsters looking for starting jobs include Bob Anderson (3-3), Glen Hobbie (10-6) and southpaw Taylor Phillips (7-10).

The regular starting lineup will look something like this: Cal Neeman (.259) or Sammy Taylor (.259) at catcher, Long (.271) at first, Tony Taylor (.235) at second, Banks (.315) at short, Al Dark (.295) at third, and Walls (.304), Thomson (.283) and Moryn (.264) in the outfield.

"And maybe this George Altman," Scheffing added. Altman, who hit .325 for Pueblo last season, has performed ably in the outfield this spring.

In 1958, the Cubs were second only to San Francisco in team scoring. Banks was the major run producer with 47 homers and 129 RBIS. But Moryn, Walls, Thomson and Long hit at least 20 homers each and noen drove in fewer than 72 runs.

Walnut Bops Monroe, 17-3

Host Walnut's Lloyd Davidson tossed a four-hitter over Monroe yesterday afternoon to take the shortened five inning fray, 17-3.

The Walnut Tigers pounded out seven hits, garnered 10 walks and pilfered 10 bases on three Monroe hurlers. They were Steve Fullen, Larry Bigam and Keith Sheets.

David Weaver and James Riley led Walnut with two hits apiece. Boysel and Bigam led the Monroe Indians with a triple each.

Track, Baseball Squads Prep For April Opening Contests

Plenty of sunshine and warm weather this week has prompted Circleville High School's baseball and track squads to get in some vitally needed outside practice.

Both teams have been outside every day this week, making hurried preparations for opening tests which are just around the corner. Coach Dick Fisher's baseballers open April 3 at Chillicothe and Coach John Current's cindermen start action April 7 at Wilmington.

The baseball crew has been working out at Ted Lewis Park, with the accent on hitting, throwing and baserunning. The diamond still needs additional grading and dragging before it will be suitable for adequate infield practice.

The Tiger pitching staff appears to be shaping up in good form, with Adkins, Duane Dean, Bob Caudill and Don Rowland getting in work on the mound.

INFIELDERS Cal Ellis, Ray Phifer, Rowland and Bill Purcell seem to have retained the sharpness which made them one of the best combinations in the SCOL last year.

Power hitting catcher Harry Strawser has been tagging the ball well in batting practice. He probably will be backed up behind the plate by Brent Bell, another dependable receiver.

Patrolling the outfield are veteran Jim Woods, Dick Greenlee, Jake Bailey, Dan Leonhardt, Bob Shadley and a host of other promising candidates.

Pacing the track squad so far are Larry Hannahs who can perform in multiple events, dash man Gary Vandemark, discus thrower Dick Gerhardt, pole vaulter Dick Warner and several other promising newcomers.

Cincy Pro Cage Team Suffers $75,408 Loss

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Basketball Co. suffered a $75,408 loss during its first year of control over the Cincinnati Royals, pro cage outfit, Executive Vice President Tom Grace told stockholders Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hudson, grandparents of Gary, left Thursday morning to visit with their son and family for several days while Gary is recuperating at home. Friends who would like to remember Gary may send a card to the following address: 5 N. Admiral Drive, Forrestal Village, N. Chicago, Illinois.

ON MONDAY evening, the Ashville-Harrison Band Boosters will hold a meeting in the Ashville High School Building. A financial report of all expenditures for instruments and repairs for the current year will be presented. The main topic of the evening will be the annual spring musical "The Greatest Show On Earth" which will be May 9, 10, and 11. Many committees are yet to be appointed so all persons interested in helping with this project please attend this meeting or call Mrs. Harvey Roby, Jr. and Mrs. Nolo Gulick for assignments.

In order not to conflict with the Community Club Sports Banquet, the Booster meeting will not be held until 8:30 p. m. Please be prompt.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lemon, Mrs. Lonnie Alderson and Miss Mildred Lemon attended the Florence Nigheingale Pledging Ceremony at the King Ave. Methodist Church in Columbus on March 13, in honor of Miss Susan Lemon, who is enrolled in the School of Nursing at White Cross Hospital.

An Easter Bake Sale will be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday at Roese's Shoe Shop. The sale is sponsored by the Methodist Fellowship Class with all proceeds going towards the Building Fund.
